Interest On Savings Deposits In Banks Cut To Two Per Cent

Finance Minister Rhodes Announces Reduction Effective Throughout Canada November 1

Resolution Passed At Ottawa in 1932

Ottawa, Oct. 11.—Interest paid on savings deposits will be reduced to 2 per cent as from November 1, 1934, by all chartered banks in Canada, the Dominion government Post Office Savings Bank and the Ontario government savings office, Finance Minister E. M. Rhodes announced to-day.

A similar reduction will be made effective by all other banks on December 1, and the minister intimated that a number of the important loan and trust companies in Ontario will reduce by one-half of 1 per cent the rate of interest which they at present pay on savings deposits, such reductions to be effective from January 2.

On May 1, 1933, the savings deposit interest rate was reduced by the chartered banks and similar institutions from 3 per cent to 2½ per cent.

RESOLUTION IN 1932

Announcement of the interest reduction recalls the Dominion government joined in a resolution passed at the Ottawa conference in the summer of 1932 which recommended the creation and maintenance within the limits of sound finance of such conditions as would assist in the revival of enterprise and trade and stated that "among these conditions are low rates of interest and abundance of short-term money."

EFFECT ON BUSINESS

Mr. Rhodes expressed great gratification that financial institutions accepting deposits had decided to take this step, and stressed its importance from the point of the general national welfare. He pointed out that the lowering of interest rates would have an important effect in stimulating business recovery by encouraging the employment of capital for productive enterprise. One immediate important result, he said, would be the stimulus given to the investment market and the consequent lightening of the burden of debt charges on public bodies.

VERNON SCHOOLS CLOSED TO-DAY

Vernon, B.C., Oct. 11.—Public gatherings have been forbidden and schools have been ordered closed here following the discovery of a case of infantile paralysis at Okanagan Landing, near Vernon. The patient is a 12-year-old girl who attended school here.

Schools have been closed for nearly three weeks at Kelowna, B.C., owing to an outbreak of infantile paralysis now believed under control there.

Vancouver Wants to Bar Unemployables

Transients From East, Un-fitted For Work, Subject of Conference With Ministers To-day

"Where it used to be the ambition of thousands of people from Winnipeg west to save enough money to come to British Columbia to retire, their ambition now seems to be to save just enough money to travel to British Columbia without any money when they get there. You never heard of anyone in British Columbia saving money to go and retire in the east."

"That is a picture of the argument we presented," Alderman W. W. Smith of Vancouver, remarked following an interview with Hon. George S. Pearson, Minister of Labor, and Hon. George M. Weir, Provincial Secretary.

Relief problems created for Vancouver by transient unemployables was the subject of the conference. The Vancouver delegation asked that the subject be taken up by representatives of the British Columbia cabinet at Ottawa to show that B.C. was forced to carry a social service burden beyond that created by its resident citizens and by so doing relieved other provinces of a burden which they would otherwise have to carry.

Feared Kentucky Woman Held By Abductor Will Die

Sydney, Australia, Oct. 11.—A Japanese ship was seized by Australian authorities in New Guinea waters yesterday and her crew of twenty-five was arrested on charges of shell poisoning.

Authorities say poachers have been increasingly active throughout western Pacific islands recently, resulting in the establishment of seaplane patrols by Australia.

Should Japan protest the arrests possible diplomatic complications are foreseen by observers.

Kalamazoo, Mich., Oct. 11.—A brief sensation aroused in Kalamazoo to-day when an arrested stock salesman claimed he was Ambrose J. Small, Toronto millionaire who vanished mysteriously fourteen years ago, subsided this afternoon when relatives of Small at Toronto discounted his story and Toronto police said he failed to answer Small's description.

MISSING MEN IN PORT AGAIN

Vancouver, Oct. 11.—Ernest Nelson, thirty-seven, and Martin Hansen, thirty, unreported since Saturday, when they set out for Gambier Island in their thirteen-foot sailboat, have returned safely. They stated they had been delayed at Gambier Island on account of "boat trouble."

DO NOT EXPECT STRIKE SPREAD

Trouble at Port Alberni Thought to Be Only Local Affair

Officials of the B.C. Department of Labor this morning had received no official report of the strike and shut down in Port Alberni affecting 550 loggers and mill workers of the Alberni Pacific Lumber Company, and had had no application for their services to negotiate a settlement.

Three hundred and fifty mill workers are thrown out through the closing of the mill caused by the strike of loggers.

Officials were inclined to discount reports from organizers in Port Alberni that there was grave danger of the strike becoming general throughout the province. Wages and working conditions are not points of issue at the island camp, the right to hold organization meetings in camp and the discharge of a man active in organization work having led up to the conflict. Strikers also allege they were refused the right to receive any papers which they desired, based on the argument that some of them were Communistic. Breach of agreement through the holding of organization meetings in the camp is charged by the company, which claims these meetings should have been held in the City of Port Alberni.

Company representatives were considerably to the fore in the negotiations during the May strike, but no decision was reached on the point. It was left to agreements between the loggers and the individual companies as to whether these committees should be permitted. The Labor Department has received no intimation that trouble over the issue has arisen in other camps and doubts the up-island organizers' statements that there is danger the strike will spread.

Loggers Association, who was in Victoria to-day, voiced the view that the trouble in Port Alberni was purely a local matter. He thought there was no danger of it spreading to other logging camps of British Columbia.

In a statement issued to-day A.P.L. officials explained that strike of loggers will continue logging. If the present crew at Camp Five do not wish to work the company will take steps to employ other loggers. Camp Five will not remain closed, and just as soon as it is again producing logs in quantity the big mill will resume operations, the statement says.

QUEBEC BANK ROBBED OF $600

Two Armed Thugs Get Away After Hold-up in Suburb of Ancient City

Quebec, Oct. 11.—Two armed bandits operating a stolen automobile with stolen license plates, held up the branch of the Banque Canadienne Nationale at Ancienne Lorette, a suburb, shortly after the branch opened for business to-day and escaped with approximately $600.

No shot were fired. The robbers held up the branch manager, E. D. Cois, who was alone in the premises at the time, scooped up all the money in the teller's cage and made their getaway. They did not wait to open the bank's safe, which was locked.

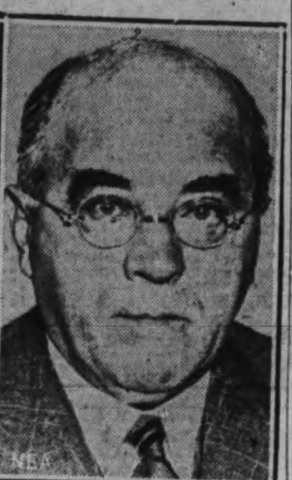

From members of the family of Henry V. Stoll, old company vice-president, police learned the twenty-six-year-old former Bryn Mawr student and Junior League member was ill when a white-faced man kidnapped her last yesterday for $50,000 ransom.

To-day Major William Schmidt, night chief of police, disclosed the high temperature the young woman had yesterday afternoon when an unidentified man got into the Stoll home by a ruse, subdued her and her maid, Mrs. Ann Woollet, and forced Mrs. Stoll to leave with him in an automobile.

The Stoll family and that of William S. Speed, retired capitalist, her father, announced from the start they were ready to pay the ransom and to-day Mr. Stoll, one of Louisville's leading oil men, reiterated: "We are not so much interested now in the capture of the kidnapper as we are in the return of Alice. All we want is to get my wife back alive." Meanwhile federal agents were being concentrated in Louisville to aid in the search on orders from Washington, and Governor Ruby Laffoon offered all possible state aid. "It is a mighty ugly case," the governor added in making his announcement.

SILVER PRICE AT HIGH SPOT

Sharp Increases in London and New York; China Is Heavy Buyer

London, Oct. 11.—Silver spurted 1½d to 24½d an ounce to-day, to reach the highest price in five years. The rise, brokers said, was caused by excessive buying by China, with few sellers. It was pointed out that China sold freely when the price was around twenty pence, but lately has been inclined to buy on a rising market, and now has sent large purchasing orders.

Speculators also were operating to-day, but it was not known whether American authorities had resumed support of the market, although one authority said the United States started the bull rally.

Associated Press

New York, Oct. 11.—One of the sharpest increases in bar silver prices for a single day's trading on record occurred in world markets to-day. Bullion brokers at New York quoted foreign metal for industrial use at 25½¢ an ounce, up 2½¢ from yesterday. This followed a jump of 1½¢ in London to 24½¢ an ounce.

This was the sharpest rise in the New York market since the announcement the United States was going off the gold standard in April, 1933. That sent silver up 3½¢ to 39½¢ in a single day.

To-day's New York price was the highest since 1929. In that year the price ranged from a high of 37½¢ to a low of 33½¢. The record low of 24½¢ was touched in December, 1932.

Silver has now advanced 3½¢ an ounce above the level at which the United States treasury nationalized all domestic hoards and speculative holdings last summer. The price which the treasury is paying for newly-mined silver from United States mines, however, is still 64½¢.

BRITISH ENVOY GOES TO SCANDINAVIA

London, Oct. 11.—Rt. Hon. Anthony Eden, Lord Privy Seal and British diplomat, left London to-day on a goodwill tour of Scandinavia.

The purposes of his visit are to stimulate closer trade relations between Britain and the Scandinavian countries, already reflected in increasing trade returns, and to exchange views on disarmament.

The announcement of his death brought great masses of citizens out into the market square and surrounding streets. The secretary of the Italian consulate, happening to pass by, was speedily recognized. The crowd cried out derisively against Italy, then seized the Italian official. Police intervened immediately, freed the Italian before he was seriously injured and escorted him home.

REPORTS DENIED Reports published abroad that there were public demonstrations, with speeches against Italy, were flatly denied by Yugoslavian authorities.

Public sentiment against Italy, however, is running high. The man on the street blames Italy for the assassination of the king, especially in view of the contention that Italy is giving shelter to large numbers of Croatian emigres, even keeping them in camp where Yugoslavians allege, they receive military training.

Two Accused Of Being Accomplices Of Slayer Of Yugoslavia King Arrested

FRENCH GUARD QUEEN MARIE

Widow of Yugoslav King Taken Secretly Through Streets of Paris

Paris, Oct. 11.—Queen Marie of Yugoslavia, like the boy, King Peter II, was smuggled into Paris to-day and taken secretly through the streets to avoid any attempt on her life.

When Marie arrived from Marseilles for a reunion in tragedy with her son, Mme. Albert Lebrun, wife of the President of France, was substituted for her.

Heavily veiled, Mme. Lebrun sat beside the President in an automobile that headed the procession from the station and the crowd thought she was the widowed queen.

TO LEGATION

Queen Marie remained in the train, which arrived at 9:20 a.m., for half an hour, and then was taken swiftly, under heavy guard, to the Yugoslav legation, where she joined her son. Peter, arriving from London yesterday evening, was taken from the train outside of Paris.

Marie and her son will leave Paris to-night for Belgrade.

Fifteen minutes after the president's party had gone, Marie's mother, the Dowager Queen Marie of Roumania, and her sister, Princess Elena, both in the train, were greeted by the widow.

BARTHOLOMEW

The body of the elderly French Foreign Minister, Louis Barthou, a victim of the same pistol that killed King Alexander Tuesday, arrived from Marseilles to-day. A national funeral will be held Saturday.

Anti-Italian Riot At Sarajevo

Mob Stones Consulate in That Town of Yugoslavia; Dispersed By Police

Belgrade, Oct. 11.—A mob to-day stoned the Italian consulate at Sarajevo, the city in which Archduke Franz Ferdinand was assassinated in 1914, the deed which led up to the great war.

The rioters were angered by the assassination of their king, Alexander.

Police finally dispersed them, but only with difficulty, and after they had also stoned the Croatian Society building.

SECRETARY PUNNELED

Ljubljana, Yugoslavia, Oct. 11.—Authorities here disclosed to-day that the secretary of the Italian consulate was severely punneled, but not seriously injured, Tuesday evening by a crowd which had just learned of the assassination of their king, Alexander.

The announcement of his death brought great masses of citizens out into the market square and surrounding streets. The secretary of the Italian consulate, happening to pass by, was speedily recognized. The crowd cried out derisively against Italy, then seized the Italian official. Police intervened immediately, freed the Italian before he was seriously injured and escorted him home.

BOY KING IS PROCLAIMED

Members of Yugoslav Parliament Take Oath to Peter II

Belgrade, Yugoslavia, Oct. 11.—The boy Crown Prince Peter was proclaimed King of Yugoslavia to-day by both Houses of Parliament sitting as a national assembly.

In a scene of sadness and silence, broken only by the spoken pledges, the members, sitting as a national assembly, took the oath to make the eleven-year-old son of the slain Alexander King Peter II.

Each member took the oath individually to support the king's constitution and the law of the land. A solemn scene was presented as the pale, nervous Prince Paul, cousin of the late King Alexander and head of the newly appointed regency, looked down from the royal enclosure at hundreds of sad-visaged deputies.

SUSPECTS' BIRTHPLACE

The two arrested suspects said they were Vladimir Benes and Yaroslav Novack. The passports they carried were Czechoslovakian and showed Benes to have been born at Zara, Italy, in 1905, and Novack at Gorizia, Italy, in 1902. Both of these places then were Austrian territory.

They were arrested at Thonon on the border of Switzerland shortly after the assassination. A spy, Guyer Chalm, had escaped from police hands at Fontainebleau. The two prisoners' passports showed they had been issued in Paris.

Benes, under a French police grilling, told his questioners his friend Novack was really Nigomir Nalla, whom he had met in Belgium as a terrorist; agitator ever since Belgian authorities two weeks ago told him he was on French soil and intending to assassinate King Alexander.

Albert Sarraut Forced Out of Cabinet By Premier Doumergue as Result of Marseilles Assassinations

Paris, Oct. 11.—Acting swiftly, Premier Gaston Doumergue to-day obliged Minister of the Interior Albert Sarraut to resign his post and dismissed from office the prefect of the Bouches du Rhone Department and the director of France's secret police, the Surette Nationale.

As Minister of the Interior, Sarraut had been responsible in some quarters for alleged police laxity in Marseilles Tuesday when King Alexander of Yugoslavia and Louis Barthou, French Foreign Minister, were assassinated.

M. Barthou, director of the Surette Nationale, and M. Johannaud, prefect of the Bouches du Rhone Department, in which prefecture Marseilles is located, were dismissed.

IN CHARGE

Director Barthou of the Surette Nationale was in direct charge of the huge force of police and mobile guards who threw a dragnet over Marseilles preceding the arrival of King Alexander of Yugoslavia and French Foreign Minister, were assassinated.

It was reported that P. E. Flaudin, now Minister of Public Works, had the best chance of succeeding Foreign Minister Louis Barthou, who also fell in the hall of the assassin's bullet. M. Flaudin recently visited Canada for the Jacques Cartier celebrations.

Of Austro-Italian Origin, They Tell French Police Their Names Are Wladislav Benes and Yaroslav Novack; Girl Wounded When King Killed Dies in Marseilles

Premier Mussolini's Course Peaceful

Paris, Oct. 11.—French and Yugoslav officials to-day said they were confident Premier Mussolini of Italy would ignore momentary outbursts of anti-Italian hostility in Yugoslavia and that danger was remote of international complications resulting from the assassination of King Alexander of Yugoslavia.

By RICHARD G. MASSOCK Associated Press Correspondent

Paris, Oct. 11.—Two suspected terrorists, arrested to-day as accomplices of Petrus Kalemek, assassin of King Alexander of Yugoslavia and Louis Barthou, Foreign Minister of France, were found to be carrying passports indicating they were of Austro-Italian origin.

France's police, under nationwide fire because of the assassinations, questioned their suspects throughout the day in an effort to solve the mystery of the double killing that is shaking the diplomatic foundations of Europe.

Rumors spread that the government of Premier Gaston Doumergue might resign in order to reorganize. The feeling of the French people was running high, not only because of the assassinations, but because of previous alleged shortcomings of police work.

Quebec Stages First Flea Hunt

Ottawa, Oct. 11.—The human flea, rare but annoying creature, has made his first appearance in the province of Quebec, and officials of the entomological branch of the Department of Agriculture are attempting to find out where it came from.

Known to scientists as "pulex irritans," the human flea is said to be common in Europe and some parts of Asia, but has seldom been found in Canada. It has been reported in isolated localities in British Columbia, Saskatchewan and Prince Edward Island, but has never before been found in Quebec.

The human flea differs from cat and dog fleas, which are somewhat common in Canada and sometimes take up temporary residence on human bodies.

Twelve United States Department of Justice men directing their work, city and county officers joined two state police forces in weaving a band about this area, hoping to trap the man and rescue his victim.

But a plot of blood, the cultured wording of the threatening ransom note and the fallible memory of an almost hysterical maid were all the sleuths had to go on for hours after the kidnapping.

The victim was seized in her home on Limestone Lane, in the fashionable but remote Upper River Road section of Louisville, eight miles from the city proper. The abductor appeared about 9 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, saying he had come to repair the telephone, which had been giving trouble.

Ann Woollet, twenty-four-year-old maid, whose husband is a caretaker on the Woollet estate, admitted she said he "looked and acted like a fiend." He "fooled around with the wires," she said, and then ripped away the connection. Mrs. Woollet, who had been ill several days, came downstairs when she heard the noise.

The man menaced Mrs. Woollet with a gun and forced her to tape the hands of her mistress. Then he tied the maid to a chair, gagged her and told Mrs. Woollet he was going to kidnap her.

HIT ON HEAD

They talked about the matter for some time. Mrs. Woollet offered the man a cheque if he would let her go. He replied by hitting her on the head with a piece of iron pipe. Her head was cut and began to bleed, but the maid said she was not unconscious.

Scenes of Horror in Asturias Province Described by Newspaper Man

Associated Press

Madrid, Oct. 11.—Scenes of horror in the isolated province of Asturias, now the centre of a red revolt which has raged for a week, were described today in a massed article from a Spanish correspondent accompanying government troops.

The army encountered instances where civil guards had been slain by overpowering forces, the correspondent reported.

More than 1,000 armed rebels attacked the civil guard at Campomanes and fifteen guards from Leon who attempted to relieve the post were killed. The civil guard quarters were literally torn to pieces by bullets. Campomanes was retaken by the army Sunday.

Many were slain on both sides and hundreds of cattle in the region were killed by flying bullets.

In one bombardment near Campomanes more than 150 rebels were killed, the newspaperman reported.

Vega and Del Rey have just been overcome after a terrific bombardment.

ATROCITIES USED

Autoguns are being used for the first time in actual Spanish combat. Two are operating with the army in Asturias on patrol duty and carrying dispatches in the mountainous territory.

A dispatch from Lisbon said the Portuguese government had sent troops to the Spanish border, but the action was not explained. A submarine movement in Portugal was reported to have been stamped out this week.

One of the first of the insurrectionists to go on trial, Capt. Jacques Roach, who commanded Catalan troops in Barcelona last week, was sentenced to life imprisonment by a court-martial. Scores of other leftist leaders are to face a court-martial.

Assassination Suspects Held in France

PASSPORT DROPPED

But they were none too sure of this identification for Sylvester Chalmers, in his escape at Fontainebleau, dropped another passport bearing the name of "Maurice."

It appeared to be possible the real Nails was neither one of these men. Chalmers' passport showed he was born in Belgrade, a Croatian city.

FIRE AT MAN

Police at Fontainebleau arrested a man named Sylvester Chalmers at the local railroad station. It was Chalmers, accompanied by the two suspects, who accompanied Kalem to the train.

Chalmers slipped out of his hands, however, and ran into the forest there. Police shot at him, but he made his getaway. A posse was summoned to comb the woods.

The Fontainebleau police also had the other two suspects in their hands yesterday, but they, too, got away. They were seized today, however, at Chalon, just as they were attempting to cross the Geneva to either Geneva or Lausanne.

Police said they believed they were the same pair who accompanied Kalem to the train yesterday evening, awaiting a train.

The police picked them up and beat them to the ground. They extracted from their pockets a ticket to Evian, and then he suddenly broke loose, ran across the tracks, jumped a fence and disappeared into the darkness.

The other two men ran away in resultant confusion, jumped on a moving train and eventually gained the frontier, where they were arrested.

In his flight, Chalmers dropped his passport. The Geneva police opened it and found inside a passport bearing his name and which was, like that of Kalem, purported to have been issued by the Czechoslovakian consulate at Prague. It gave Chalmers' residence at Praha, and like that of Kalem, bore a visa showing his entrance into France September 28, through Yverdon on the Swiss frontier.

Meanwhile, police said they were hunting for a third suspect, Jules Nails, a terrorist agitator and prominent leader of the band, and Egon Kramer, who accompanied Kalem to the train. The Marseilles police were advised by the Belgian police two weeks ago that Nails had passed through Belgium on the way to France, apparently with the intention of murdering Alexander.

PRECAUTIONS IN PARIS

The seeming laxity in the protection of Alexander at Marseilles was attributed in informed quarters to the authorities' belief that any attempt on the King's life would be made in Paris. Elaborate precautions had been taken to safeguard him after his arrival in the capital.

No attack was expected in Marseilles. The terrorist gang, according to the police theory, heard of the plans for protection in Paris, hastily changed the scene of attack to Marseilles and sent Kalem there.

Police also were informed that "high French military personalities" were marked for death by the assassins, but whether their route was to come with Alexander or later was not revealed.

PRICE TAG FOUND

Bene carried a new billfold bearing a price tag of the department store in Paris where Kalem's new suit, which he wore at the time of the assassination, was purchased.

Before his escape from their hands, Fontainebleau police found a cartridge clip on Chalmers, a clip for identically the same kind of automatic pistol as that found on the body of Kalem at Marseilles.

Meanwhile the body of Foreign Minister Louis Barthou, lay in a silver-trimmed oak casket completely covered with a flag in the vast cloakroom of the Foreign Office. It rests in the place in which was signed the Briand-Kellogg pact to insure peace, Mr. Barthou's great ideal.

Premier Gaston Doumergue came there to be present when the casket was brought from the train in a massive hearse. He was the first to bow in prayer before the body.

Later the public was allowed to pass through the room before the casket.

Secretaries of the Foreign Office alternated in maintaining a guard of honor beside their late chief.

The tragedy at Marseilles has caused the "indefinite" postponement of a visit by King Carol of Roumania to Paris. He was to have followed the Yugoslavian king within a few weeks.

Flames shot 100 feet in the air, then the building collapsed like a card house. The fire spread rapidly and firemen were unable to battle for three hours before rescue operations could be undertaken.

BODY UNDER DEBRIS

Shortly after 6 o'clock the body of one of the Cruse children was found in its crib deep under the debris. Belief was expressed it had smothered to death, and a policeman reported having heard a baby's cry shortly after he had arrived on the scene.

The bodies of Mrs. Cruse and her other child were found together under an hour later, and the charred bodies of the Dudas children were recovered before 7 o'clock.

No trace of the man employed by Mr. Dudas had been found 24 hours later, and police were endeavoring to confirm a report he was not in the building at the time of the explosion.

Mr. Dudas, whose grocery occupied the first floor of the building, was in the Annapolis Valley on a buying trip at the time.

as each raised his right hand and himself for the new regime.

BRIEF SPEECH

Prince Paul himself dramatically swore the heart of parliament by a simple laconic speech.

The swearing faithfully to serve his country and to preserve the unity of its people, he said:

"Thank you for your confidence in me. I think you have not made a mistake in this regard."

The deputies then broke into pronounced and excited cheers such as have seldom been won by carefully worded orations in the parliament where the ceremony took place.

The senators and deputies, still shaking the shock of the assassination of King Alexander at Marseilles, were reassured by the prince's words, and the sincerity of a mild-mannered young man who simply and courageously accepted a grave responsibility he had not sought.

All were aware Prince Paul is much more a scholar and art lover than a politician, and that he is a member of the Order of Saint Sava, the shy prince lacked the smart military appearance which King Alexander always characterized.

He repeated the oath to support king and constitution after the president, in a clear, confident voice.

While the other two members of the regency council were signing the oath on black-bordered paper, Paul moved about the platform as if suffering from stage fright.

PLANES READY

Jugoslavia was outwardly normal today, but twenty-seven military airplanes were made ready for instant takeoff, "just in case."

The planes were wheeled from their hangars at Zemun, just across the river.

Otherwise, no special security measures could be observed. Many parts of the country reported there were no signs of any popular effort to overthrow the government. Some observers said the only possibility of unexpected action would be the seizure of power by the army—but this, they added, was highly improbable.

An elaborate funeral will be given the late King Alexander. The body will be placed on the sarcophagus he completed only a few weeks ago, an indication he had a premonition of death.

For two days the body will lie in state here. Then, after consecration services at the national cathedral, it will be borne to the Royal Memorial Church at Topolo, where the sarcophagus is, beside that of his father, King Peter. Alexander was born in Topolo.

Alexander took special pride in his sepulchre. It is built of vari-colored marble and mosaic in Serbo-Byzantine style. A large dome, crossing four smaller domes, surmounts it. Figures of the Madonna and of Christ are above the sarcophagus.

NOT TRACED

Efforts to trace Peter Kalem, slayer of Alexander, in this country have failed.

The government opposes any efforts to place blame on other nations for Alexander's death.

Thousands of black flags flutter from buildings and flags throughout the nation, as it mourns the dead king. Public entertainments have been cancelled.

WANT PROVINCIAL BOARD

The Vancouver representatives advocated the creation of a provincial board upon which the city would be represented to study the whole problem of transient and physically unfit unemployed, compulsory return of unemployable transients from other provinces to their original homes unless their own provinces guaranteed the cost of their maintenance in British Columbia. The major problem was classed as the eventual disposition of thousands of unfit single men now being maintained by public funds in Vancouver as the consequence of unemployment relief at any time would leave a heavy percentage of those in the city who would never be absorbed by the labor market.

Numerous specific instances of persons who have gone to Vancouver in ill-health and have become a total charge on the city were cited in a brief which was left with the ministers. Expensive hospital treatment had been necessary in some instances, it was claimed.

NEW TRIAL ORDERED

Vancouver, Oct. 11 (Canadian Press).—The B.C. Court of Appeal has directed a new trial of the suit of Fletcher, Turney and Hanbury Limited Vancouver stock brokers, against Colquhoun, De Wolfe and Company, another broker firm. The plaintiffs claimed $10,000 damages for alleged failure to deliver 100,000 shares of Taylor Bridge River stock under an option. The action was dismissed at the trial before Chief Justice Aulay and a new trial was ordered. The plaintiffs' counsel appealed for a new trial.

Train Falls Into Creek

Five Killed, Number Injured When Cars Jump Track in Iowa; Engine Explodes

Associated Press

Quincy, Iowa, Oct. 11.—The engineer, fireman and three passengers on a Milwaukee passenger train were killed and an undetermined number of passengers injured when the train left the tracks one-half mile south of here today.

The train, speeding northward toward Milwaukee, left the tracks on a curve and toppled off a small bridge into a creek and the engine exploded.

The cab and tender were torn from the engine and the three coaches were smashed.

Among the identified dead were Charles Strainsky, 60, engineer, of Dubuque, and Frank Mann, 55, fireman, of Dubuque.

There were twenty-five passengers aboard the train, some of them school children who had boarded the train at Turkey River to attend school at Quincy, Mo.

The coaches lay on their sides along the creek. The injured, the number not immediately learned, received first aid along the roadside before assistance arrived.

The cause of the wreck was not immediately known.

Rancher Earl Not Leaving Farm Yet

Canadian Press

Calgary, Oct. 11.—It will be at least two years before the Earl and Countess of Eglmont, and their young son, Viscount Percival, visit the ancestral home, Avon Castle, Hampshire, England. It was stated by a member of the family here today.

The Countess, a Calgary girl, has never visited England, and Viscount Percival is but a few months old. The Earl and his family are at present staying at his friends' ranch, thirty miles southwest of Calgary. There is no telephone or telegraphic connection with the ranch.

A press dispatch from London yesterday evening said the Earl was planning to return to England before he reaches his majority, next April, and that he would take his seat in the House of Lords.

Assassination Suspects Held in France

PASSPORT DROPPED

But they were none too sure of this identification for Sylvester Chalmers, in his escape at Fontainebleau, dropped another passport bearing the name of "Maurice."

It appeared to be possible the real Nails was neither one of these men. Chalmers' passport showed he was born in Belgrade, a Croatian city.

FIRE AT MAN

Police at Fontainebleau arrested a man named Sylvester Chalmers at the local railroad station. It was Chalmers, accompanied by the two suspects, who accompanied Kalem to the train.

Chalmers slipped out of his hands, however, and ran into the forest there. Police shot at him, but he made his getaway. A posse was summoned to comb the woods.

The Fontainebleau police also had the other two suspects in their hands yesterday, but they, too, got away. They were seized today, however, at Chalon, just as they were attempting to cross the Geneva to either Geneva or Lausanne.

Police said they believed they were the same pair who accompanied Kalem to the train yesterday evening, awaiting a train.

The police picked them up and beat them to the ground. They extracted from their pockets a ticket to Evian, and then he suddenly broke loose, ran across the tracks, jumped a fence and disappeared into the darkness.

The other two men ran away in resultant confusion, jumped on a moving train and eventually gained the frontier, where they were arrested.

In his flight, Chalmers dropped his passport. The Geneva police opened it and found inside a passport bearing his name and which was, like that of Kalem, purported to have been issued by the Czechoslovakian consulate at Prague. It gave Chalmers' residence at Praha, and like that of Kalem, bore a visa showing his entrance into France September 28, through Yverdon on the Swiss frontier.

Meanwhile, police said they were hunting for a third suspect, Jules Nails, a terrorist agitator and prominent leader of the band, and Egon Kramer, who accompanied Kalem to the train. The Marseilles police were advised by the Belgian police two weeks ago that Nails had passed through Belgium on the way to France, apparently with the intention of murdering Alexander.

PRECAUTIONS IN PARIS

The seeming laxity in the protection of Alexander at Marseilles was attributed in informed quarters to the authorities' belief that any attempt on the King's life would be made in Paris. Elaborate precautions had been taken to safeguard him after his arrival in the capital.

No attack was expected in Marseilles. The terrorist gang, according to the police theory, heard of the plans for protection in Paris, hastily changed the scene of attack to Marseilles and sent Kalem there.

Police also were informed that "high French military personalities" were marked for death by the assassins, but whether their route was to come with Alexander or later was not revealed.

PRICE TAG FOUND

Bene carried a new billfold bearing a price tag of the department store in Paris where Kalem's new suit, which he wore at the time of the assassination, was purchased.

Before his escape from their hands, Fontainebleau police found a cartridge clip on Chalmers, a clip for identically the same kind of automatic pistol as that found on the body of Kalem at Marseilles.

Meanwhile the body of Foreign Minister Louis Barthou, lay in a silver-trimmed oak casket completely covered with a flag in the vast cloakroom of the Foreign Office. It rests in the place in which was signed the Briand-Kellogg pact to insure peace, Mr. Barthou's great ideal.

Premier Gaston Doumergue came there to be present when the casket was brought from the train in a massive hearse. He was the first to bow in prayer before the body.

Later the public was allowed to pass through the room before the casket.

Secretaries of the Foreign Office alternated in maintaining a guard of honor beside their late chief.

The tragedy at Marseilles has caused the "indefinite" postponement of a visit by King Carol of Roumania to Paris. He was to have followed the Yugoslavian king within a few weeks.

Marseilles, Oct. 11.—One name was removed to-day from the list of those in the assassination of King Alexander, when authorities announced Policeman Gall still was alive.

The police, who still are in a state

as each raised his right hand and himself for the new regime.

BRIEF SPEECH

Prince Paul himself dramatically swore the heart of parliament by a simple laconic speech.

The swearing faithfully to serve his country and to preserve the unity of its people, he said:

"Thank you for your confidence in me. I think you have not made a mistake in this regard."

The deputies then broke into pronounced and excited cheers such as have seldom been won by carefully worded orations in the parliament where the ceremony took place.

The senators and deputies, still shaking the shock of the assassination of King Alexander at Marseilles, were reassured by the prince's words, and the sincerity of a mild-mannered young man who simply and courageously accepted a grave responsibility he had not sought.

All were aware Prince Paul is much more a scholar and art lover than a politician, and that he is a member of the Order of Saint Sava, the shy prince lacked the smart military appearance which King Alexander always characterized.

He repeated the oath to support king and constitution after the president, in a clear, confident voice.

While the other two members of the regency council were signing the oath on black-bordered paper, Paul moved about the platform as if suffering from stage fright.

PLANES READY

Jugoslavia was outwardly normal today, but twenty-seven military airplanes were made ready for instant takeoff, "just in case."

The planes were wheeled from their hangars at Zemun, just across the river.

Otherwise, no special security measures could be observed. Many parts of the country reported there were no signs of any popular effort to overthrow the government. Some observers said the only possibility of unexpected action would be the seizure of power by the army—but this, they added, was highly improbable.

An elaborate funeral will be given the late King Alexander. The body will be placed on the sarcophagus he completed only a few weeks ago, an indication he had a premonition of death.

For two days the body will lie in state here. Then, after consecration services at the national cathedral, it will be borne to the Royal Memorial Church at Topolo, where the sarcophagus is, beside that of his father, King Peter. Alexander was born in Topolo.

Alexander took special pride in his sepulchre. It is built of vari-colored marble and mosaic in Serbo-Byzantine style. A large dome, crossing four smaller domes, surmounts it. Figures of the Madonna and of Christ are above the sarcophagus.

NOT TRACED

Efforts to trace Peter Kalem, slayer of Alexander, in this country have failed.

The government opposes any efforts to place blame on other nations for Alexander's death.

Thousands of black flags flutter from buildings and flags throughout the nation, as it mourns the dead king. Public entertainments have been cancelled.

SPEAKERS TO OBEY LIGHTS

Engineer Shows Stop and Go Signs to Control After Dinner Talkers

Chicago, Oct. 11.—Science has done something about those long-winded after dinner talkers. Ralph G. Raymond, director of the Chicago Lighting Institute, explained the gadget—a miniature stop and go light—to a meeting of air condition engineers.

"This gadget," said the speaker, "is an automatic control on the patience of listeners. You press the button and start the light. Give the speaker five minutes. For two and a half minutes the light will show green. Then for a half minute it will gleam through an amber lens. Then it will turn red at three minutes. If he does not stop at the end of his allotted period, the light will be turned off and a loud bell will ring."

Spanish Class Starts To-night

Having secured sufficient registrations to merit a class, officials in charge of the night school will open a course in Spanish at Victoria High School this evening at 7:30 o'clock. It was announced by W. H. Bunn, director of technical education for the city.

The class will be conducted by T. A. H. Clark, an experienced teacher with a wide knowledge of his subject derived from commercial work in South America.

A lip-reading group will also begin at the night school this evening under a competent instructor.

OUTBREAK OF PARALYSIS

Toronto, Oct. 11.—Dr. G. P. Jackson, medical health officer, today stated the current outbreak of infantile paralysis in Toronto was the most extensive in twenty-five years, with the exception of the 1920 epidemic. In his report to the Board of Health, he said that between August 3 and October 9 a total of sixty-eight cases had been reported, with six deaths resulting.

Empire Business Conference Urged

London, Ont., Oct. 11.—Declaring the next two years will be vital to Canada's trade within the empire, G. H. Ward, manager of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce in Great Britain, urged in an interview today that a conference of empire business men be held as soon as possible.

Inspector For War on Rodents

Vancouver, Oct. 11.—The Vancouver Health Committee has recommended a by-law to provide an inspector to be placed in charge of a war on rodents. Medical Health Officer J. W. McIntosh declared increasing infestation of the city by rats had become alarming.

Dr. McIntosh stated there was not only danger to health, but to property from the rapidly increasing rats.

The proposed by-law would provide for inspection, ratproofing of buildings, protection of food in stores, covering of garbage tins and their protection by fences, authority for clearing buildings and prevention of dumping.

Canada Sends France Message

Bennett Expresses Regret of People at Slaying of Louis Barthou

London, Oct. 11.—Prime Minister R. B. Bennett, who expects to leave tomorrow for Canada, yesterday telegraphed condolences on behalf of Canada to France, grieving for her slain Foreign Minister, Louis Barthou. The message was half-embroidered, as Canada House and its surrounding Canadian business houses in London.

It was Mr. Barthou who on behalf of France recently signed the supplementary Canadian-French trade agreement. Premier Bennett less than two weeks ago was in cordial conversation with him in Paris.

Premier Bennett's message read as follows:

"Please convey to the government of France the deep regret of the government and the people of Canada in the loss suffered by France and the whole of Europe in the death of M. Barthou, and add my sincerest personal sympathy in the loss of a statesman whose great abilities I had come to recognize and admire in the short period of our personal acquaintance."

FIRE ESCAPES STRENGTHENED

Vancouver, Oct. 11.—Many Vancouver schools will retain wooden fire escapes despite criticism of this class of structure following a recent accident at the Simon Fraser School in which eight girls were injured when a fire escape collapsed.

Architects and other experts have advised the school board that, in certain types of wooden buildings, iron fire escapes are not as safe as wooden ones.

In the meantime, all fire escapes throughout the system have been strengthened and work has been started toward construction of new escapes where necessary.

REPORT SHOWS MORE ACTIVITY

Ontario Industrial Plants Give Encouraging Figures For Summer Months

Toronto, Oct. 11.—The Industrial Accident Prevention Association today announced that an analysis of reports from 606 Ontario industrial plants showed acceleration of activity and employment instead of the dull "between-season" conditions which prevailed usually in July and August.

R. B. Morley, general manager of the association, said figures showed the average number of employees in each plant was slightly lower in July, but the average number of hours worked per man increased from 178 to 182, or nearly 4 per cent.

The plants had a total of 112,872 employees in August, an encouraging increase compared with figures for the same month last year.

BENNETT HAS TALKS IN LONDON

London, Oct. 11.—Since he arrived in London last week from the Continent, Prime Minister R. B. Bennett has had conversations with most members of the British Cabinet, including Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald, Rt. Hon. Neville Chamberlain, Chancellor of the Exchequer, Sir John Simon, Foreign Secretary, Rt. Hon. Walter Runciman, President of the Board of Trade, Lord Hailsham, Minister of War, and Rt. Hon. Walter Elliot, Minister of Agriculture.

The Canadian Premier will sail for home tomorrow.

Coat Missing; Restaurant Pays

Calgary, Oct. 11.—The usual dust-coated sign displayed in most restaurants, "Not responsible for lost articles" does not mean a thing, according to a judgment given by Judge W. A. Macdonald in district court here yesterday.

James B. Patterson handed his overcoat to a head waiter in a local restaurant and when he had finished dining the coat could not be found.

Despite the well-known warning, the judge ruled there had been negligence, and gave Patterson judgment for $21.50.

ENTRADICTION IS ASKED

New York, Oct. 11 (Associated Press).—Lorin Jacobs, allegedly a former partner of Charles Feigenbaum, slain silk smuggler and police informant, was remanded without bail in extradition court today pending a hearing October 22.

The Canadian government is seeking Jacobs' extradition to face charges of forgery and as a fugitive from justice.

Royal City Tax Payments Reported

New Westminster, Oct. 11.—Tax collections during the first nine months of this year were seventy-one per cent of the total current levy, while arrears collected were more than $17,000 in excess of the estimate.

Total collections for the nine-month period were $473,401. Current taxes collected by October 1, the date of the first penalty period, totaled $357,511 as compared with an estimated collection for 1934 of $374,961.

In the first nine months of 1933, current taxes paid in totaled $367,908 or 73 per cent of the total levy.

Tax arrears collected totaled $77,508 as compared with $58,548 for the same period last year. Arrears this year were estimated to yield $60,000.

Three Persons Die In Fire

Aged Woman, Youth and Little Girl Victims at Gati-neau Point, Que.

Gatineau Point, Que., Oct. 11.—Three people were burned to death and several others had narrow escapes in a fire which destroyed a frame dwelling here early today. Those who lost their lives were: Mrs. Paget, eighty-two, a four-year-old son, Donald Gunville, twenty-two, and Gunville's wife, who was in the burning building when it went to save the aged woman.

PIONEER MINE WORKER KILLED

Bridge River, B.C., Oct. 11.—Steve Slonkey, sixty, oldest employee at the Pioneer Mine, was killed yesterday in an accident at the mine in which A. Stenberg was also severely injured. Slonkey, who came to the Bridge River district in 1925, had been employed as night cage tender. While transporting a load of drills up number two shaft at 6 a.m., he fell out of the cage and was crushed against the wall. The body was badly mutilated.

When Slonkey fell out of the cage, he released the guard and the steel began to tumble into the shaft. As it came down it caught against the wall, it was thrown against Stenberg, who was also in the cage. He suffered severe bruises and lacerations.

The accident occurred as the men were making their last trip in the shaft before going off duty.

THEY GOT THEIR MAN

Glasgow, N.J., Oct. 11 (Associated Press).—Harry Weiss, twenty-two, of Philadelphia, sought by police after they had found a 160-gallon still on the farm he worked, hid out, but the agents found him—hot in the bar, but between two pigs in a sty.

Candidate In Toronto Named

S. Factor, Liberal M.P., Is Nominated Again; Hon. J. C. Elliott Criticizes Bennett

Toronto, Oct. 11.—Sam Factor, Liberal member of the House of Commons for Toronto West Centre, will again be a Liberal standard-bearer, but in the next federal election he will be a candidate in the new riding of Spadina.

Hon. J. C. Elliott, M.P. for West Middlesex, Ont., former Liberal Minister of Public Works, speaking at the convention at which Mr. Factor was unanimously nominated, criticized Prime Minister R. B. Bennett for concentrating power in the executive through the Marketing Act, the Central Bank, the $60,000,000 loan to the Canadian Pacific Railway and his "speculation" in the wheat market.

He attacked Prime Minister Bennett for riding "roughshod" over all opposition to put through Parliament "blank cheque" legislation.

"Now in true dictatorial fashion, with the tide of public opinion running steadily against him as shown by the recent federal by-elections, he has the temerity to state that by-election results mean little or nothing to him," said Mr. Elliott.

"In other words he defies the expressed wishes of the people. Could dictatorship be more complete?"

Attorney-General Arthur Roebuck of Ontario declared Hon. Peter Heenan, Ontario Minister of Lands and Forests, had corrected the "atrocities" of the former Conservative government and had evolved a plan whereby 10,000 lumberjacks would be given work in the bush this winter.

He referred to Hon. H. H. Stevens' activities as chairman of the price spreads committee, but said the Minister of Trade and Commerce could not accomplish much with the Conservatives in power in Ottawa.

Mr. Factor, a member of the price spreads committee, criticized Mr. Stevens for "discussing matters which are now the subject of investigation."

"Only one side has been heard and British fair play demands the men we are investigating should be given an opportunity to present a defence," he said.

ROOSEVELT HANDS OVER BEQUEST

Los Angeles, Oct. 11.—President Roosevelt, who was named beneficiary to the extent of $1,000 in the will of Leon Grant McBurney, San Pedro, has accepted his interest in the estate to McBurney's children, superior court records here disclose.

The President's name was appended to an assignment on file in the probate division. The signature was acknowledged by a notary public of the District of Columbia.

McBurney's will also bequeathed $1,000 to Joseph Stalin, Soviet Russian chieftain, with the statement, "I owe him more."

The President was given $1,000, with a clause added: "Hoping all will go for the benefit of human beings."

The document, written in pencil on newspaper, provided the children should each receive $1 from the estate "for reasons they all know."

McBurney died December 26, 1933.

"LEAVING THE BRIDGE"

IT HAS BEEN A GREAT ADVENTURE to have been on the bridge of "Canada" for the past twenty-eight years—after planning the vessel on the stocks. And much of the joy has been from the daily help of my shipmates. Not a few have served under me have taken their master's certificate and captained other vessels.

This has been a well-found ship, and though it has met its share of dirty weather and had to shorten sail, it has faithfully carried the mails. It hauls down its flag this week, and a new ship takes its place. We will all wish that it may meet with fair winds.

You get a good view from the bridge—though you do not always broadcast all you see.

The above quotation is from "Canada," a weekly journal published in London, England, devoted to the discussion of Canadian affairs. For twenty-eight years it has been published and edited by its founder and owner, Mr. Walter Lefroy, who now is "leaving the bridge," as he explains in his editorial valedictory.

Mr. A. C. Cummings, in his dispatch from London to the Southern newspapers, has this to say of Mr. Lefroy:

Mr. Walter Lefroy, editor and founder of the illustrated weekly, "Canada," has retired from a long and active connection with Canadian journalism in London. "Canada" has been acquired by Messrs. Thomas Skinner and Co., who will manage it with their publication, The Canadian Gazette, in a new and enlarged Canadian weekly.

Mr. Lefroy holds the remarkable record of editing a Canadian weekly for thirty-seven years. Returning from British Columbia in 1896 after a residence in that province of several years, he established in 1897 The British Columbia Review, which was devoted largely to mining development, then taking place in that province. The title of the paper was subsequently changed, and The British Columbia Review was merged in 1906 in the present journal "Canada."

"Canada" set a new standard, being largely illustrated and far more informative regarding Canadian life and progress than had been previously attempted by any weekly newspaper devoted to the interests of one of the Dominions. This enterprise met with its due reward, and in pre-war years its weekly issues frequently contained as many as sixty-four pages. During the years of war "Canada" was greatly valued by the members of the Canadian Expeditionary Force, both in France and in the camps in England.

Mr. Lefroy has many friends in Victoria who will wish him rest and contentment in his well-deserved holiday from the realm of the Fourth Estate.

SEA HORRORS AND ECONOMICS

IF BRUNO HAUPTMANN'S $10 BILLS had not led the police to his door just when they did, the investigation into the burning of the Morro Castle would have been front page news longer. And if it had, we might have been forced to recognize the fact that something is badly out of gear in the machinery of ocean transportation.

It is futile to suppose that the Morro Castle tragedy will be "cleared up" if the exact cause of the fire is discovered, or if this or that officer is deprived of his ticket. The whole case is just one more symptom of a bad situation which seems to extend to all maritime nations these days.

There was delay in sending out the SOS; there was confusion and lack of discipline among the ship's crew; many lives were lost that might have been saved. These are the grave charges that have been made.

They do not apply to the Morro Castle alone. They were true when the British ship Vestris went down; they have been true of other post-war sea disasters. They reflect a pressure which economic circumstances have put on the ancient business of carrying passengers across the sea.

The captain has lost his old independence. The home office is, or can be, in touch with him every minute by wireless; the temptation to save his money and reputation by deferring to the very last minute a call for help is almost irresistible. For if the captain issues such a call, and then discovers that he could, after all, have got his ship through unaided, his head is apt to come off when he reaches port—and every captain knows it.

Furthermore, a ship makes no money lying in port. For this reason the "turn around" is quicker now than ever before. Ships spend little time in port between voyages—crack liners, very often, are at their piers only a few hours between one voyage and the next.

As a result it is hard to keep crews. Sailorsmen like their shore leave. Personnel of the ship's company changes from trip to trip—so discipline inevitably suffers, and the necessary emergency drills fail to result in a smooth, properly working machine.

Add to all this the fact that passengers nowadays want ships to be super-hotels, with fine panelling in the cabins, much gym-crackery, and the like. Because of this, steel ships are fitted with flimsy, inflammable passenger quarters—and become fire-traps where they might be fireproof.

All this creates a situation that is no one's fault. It is the simple product of economic pressure. Unless this pressure can in some way be relieved, we shall continue, every so often, to have shocking marine disasters like those of the Morro Castle and the Vestris.

JOHN FREEMONT SMITH

A REMARKABLE FIGURE IN THE early life and progress of British Columbia passed away in Kamloops the other day—John Freemont Smith, in his eighty-fourth year, getting his wish, many times repeated, "to die with my boots on." He was at his office and suffered a stroke which ended his colorful life within a few minutes.

Mr. Smith, colored, was born at Fredericton, Island of St. Croix, Danish West Indies. Educated at Copenhagen and the Jesuit College in Liverpool, he was taught at the latter place the trade of a boot and shoemaker. In 1870 he went on a journey to Archangel in the White Sea. In 1871 he stood on the steps of the Tuileries and saw the last of the German troops leave Paris, following the end of the Franco-German War. Later he made an extensive journey throughout the Mediterranean. On June 28, 1872, he sailed for California, voyaging round Cape Horn, reaching San Francisco, November 18 of that year and this city on December 15.

It was in 1881 Mr. Smith left Victoria, where he worked as a shoemaker, turning out, as many old-timers will testify, the finest shoes made here. After spending eight months at New Westminster, he went to Lytton where he lived for two years.

One of Mr. Smith's boasts was that he was the first pioneer of the North Thompson Valley. He led pack trains up that famous highway. Fifty years ago he opened a store at Louis Creek; a year or so afterwards he went to Dixon Creek and was the first to find minerals there. He cut the trail from Adams Lake in 1886 and there also developed minerals. A real publicity agent for Kamloops and district, Mr. Smith, even in those early times, was correspondent for several papers, including The Cinnatani Tribune, Cleveland Plaindealer, and later on The Vancouver World.

At the time of his arrival in Kamloops the community had a population of between thirty-five and forty people. Some of his contemporaries were J. A. Mara, J. L. and Marsh Gordon, Dr. Sibree Clark, James McIntosh, J. Ogden Graham. It was during the summer of 1884 that The Sentinel was brought to Kamloops, thirty years afterwards, on the outbreak of war, startling the natives of that day with seven special editions after the war-declared "flash" had reached it from The Vancouver World, then the British Columbia distributor of what at that time was the Western Associated Press's "pony" service of telegraph news dispatches.

Says last Tuesday's issue of The Kamloops Sentinel of Mr. Smith in part:

"He died hard, to the end insisting on braving the elements and struggling slowly to get down town. Nothing vexed him more than to be advised to get a chair and be wheeled about! That to his code would have been the essence of effeminacy. He wanted to die in harness and the wish was granted. A real pioneer, a worthy citizen, he not only successfully combatted the handicap of race but proved that in all things he could take his place against any other, his standard being as high as his white colleagues and his word being his bond. His was a long life and he left his impress on his district as perhaps no other man has."

John Freemont Smith was, in every sense of the term, a gentleman and a scholar, and British Columbia has lost a sterling citizen through his death.

MOTOR ACCIDENTS

THERE IS NOTHING ON WHICH people disagree much more widely than on the question as to what causes automobile accidents. Everyone has his own pet theory; and usually—human nature being what it is—we are inclined to blame those particular faults of which we know we ourselves are never guilty.

But there is not such a great deal of room for argument after all. A lot of painstaking work has been done in tabulation and analysis of fatal traffic accidents, and the things which cause such tragedies are pretty clear. Statisticians of an insurance company recently drew up a table covering fatal traffic accidents for 1933, as officially reported by the various states in the neighboring republic.

They found that in more than thirty-two per cent of the fatal accidents in which drivers were found to be at fault, a driver had been exceeding the speed limit. In thirteen per cent of the cases, a driver had been on the wrong side of the road. In an equal number of cases a driver had taken the right of way when he was not entitled to it.

In upwards of five per cent a driver had been guilty of "cutting in," passing a standing street car, passing on a curve or a hill, or passing on the wrong side. In nearly nineteen per cent, a driver had driven completely off the roadway. In nearly nine per cent the cause could be listed only as reckless driving.

Now the thing to notice, as the insurance company statisticians point out, is that all these causes, lumped together, are practically synonymous for "heedless, needless haste." They are the sort of offences that are committed when a driver is in such a big hurry that he fails to attend to his knitting.

And if you total those percentages you will find that they account for approximately ninety per cent of all fatal accidents in which any blame attaches to the driver. It is often and truly said that the intoxicated driver is as dangerous as a maniac with a gun. Yet these figures show that fewer than five per cent of the fatal accidents can be laid to drunken driving.

BLOWS FOR RESTRICTION
The Moncton Transcript

The plan of curbing scarcity in a time of abundance by crop restrictions has met some staggering blows in the United States. It is the plan to equalize production with consumption, which also has its supporters at Ottawa, when it is so obvious that the only real solution must be to bring consumption up to production.

STILL STIFFER PENALTIES
The Ottawa Journal

A few months ago Parliament applied new safeguards against the criminal use of revolvers, made more rigid the conditions under which permits are allowed, but it is plain that Parliament did not go far enough. This summer revolvers have figured in so many crimes in this country that there must be developing a strong public opinion which would favor the most rigorous control of them.

Loose Ends

Victoria is aroused to dizzy heights of civic patriotism by a grave issue—at the corner of Yates and Douglas—Mrs. Noggins rebels and outwits the law in heroic fashion—and we take the world's troubles with a striking calm.

By H.B.W.

EMBATTLED CITY

IT IS CURIOUS how aroused Victoria has become about traffic signals. Wherever I go people excitedly discuss the proposal to erect red-and-green lights at our corners and then refer, with hilarity, to the plight of the unfortunate young policemen whose solemn duty it is to stand at the intersection of Yates and Douglas Streets blowing a whistle, turning a stop-and-go sign and struggling manfully to restrain their blushing before a giggling populace. Yes, people by the score ask me to write something about traffic signals, to keep prodding the subject along, to hurry the council on the whole idea, to assert the pedestrian liberties of this city.

Far be it from me to ridicule the civic authorities, or even to commiserate with the police who, no doubt, would prefer to face a horde of angry gunmen than the selfish laughter of the public as it congests the streets of Douglas and Yates to witness this new community phenomenon. Far be it from me, but I cannot help pointing out that there is a deeper significance here than the civic authorities seem to realize.

I mean, another place would rejoice at the need of traffic signals. It would feel that the necessity of placing a policeman on duty was a splendid evidence of the city's progress. The erection of the first red-and-green light would be the occasion of a community holiday and an address by the mayor.

In Vancouver, for example, with the disagreeable extravagance of the new rich, they have littered signal lights everywhere, of various sorts and different colors, until the stranger is sure to cause a traffic accident until he has taken a six course in accident-prevention signals.

But here we don't need these shallow outward manifestations to arouse our civic pride. We know that we were going strong before Vancouver was dreamed of, before the first traffic light appeared in the world, and we shall still be going no doubt, when the last one has disappeared from it. Policemen, busy with their shrill whistles and brave pantomime on our corners, give us no satisfaction, for we have outgrown such childish things. Nay, we only smile. And our about-to-be ourselves, the philosophic instinct and true balance which makes us realize how funny we are—that is what keeps us sane while the rest of the world is becoming as mad as a hatter. Even Mrs. Noggins understands that.

POOR FELLOWS

AND AVE YOU SEEN what the city's bin up to?" Mrs. Noggins asked me to-day, with a deeper flush of civic excitement, as I stopped to give her a lift to town. I said the city had been up to so many things that I couldn't be sure that I had seen this one.

"Well, you go and look at it," said Mrs. Noggins. "Up at the corner of Yates and Douglas, you know. They've got a poor young policeman standing there, turning a stop-and-go sign around all day like a windmill. Poor fellow—such a nice young boy, too, with a yeller mustache."

"The idea is to keep the cars all movin' and the crowds sorted out, but bless your 'eart, all it does is make it worse, that's all it does. Before they got the windmill there, a body could walk straight across and hardly pass anybody else. But now 'undreds and 'undreds of people crowd around the corners there just to goggle and giggle and see the poor young policeman a-turnin' 'is little windmill all day."

"Gosh, so many people goes there just to giggle and goggle at the new way of 'andlin' traffic that they can hardly 'andle it at all. If they get many more of these windmills to keep the traffic movin' the traffic won't be able to move nowhere. People used to be satisfied to stay at 'ome, but now they seem to all go down town every mornin' just to see our new traffic jams, and the city has made tryin' to stop traffic jams.

"In London, mindju, one policeman can 'andle all the crowds, but 'ere it takes two at the corner of Yates and Douglas. One 'as to turn the windmill and blow his whistle, and the other 'as to stand on the sidewalk and keep an eye on the first one. I suppose they're afraid the poor young fellow with the windmill—and such a nice boy, too, with a yeller mustache—I 'spose they're afraid the poor fellow will faint from the nervous strain and embarrassment of turnin' that windmill all day, so they 'ave to 'ave another one nearby to rush out and start turnin' it as soon as the first one goes down.

REBEL

WHY, BLESS MY SOUL and body," said Mrs. Noggins, "I started to walk across Yates Street—across Yates Street, mindju, where I bin a-walkin' in law and order for forty-two years come November second, and they stopped me! Stopped me! 'Can't you see the sign says 'stop'?' says the second policeman, and 'e was a nice young fellow, too, but no yeller mustache, no, none at all. 'Can't you see it says 'stop'?' 'e says, 'Why, bless my soul and body.' I says, 'The windmill turns so fast out there and the whistle blows so loud and so many people is standin' around a-watchin' a body that I can't tell when to go and when to stop.' I says, 'Besides, I says, 'I've got to deliver 'em and I'd like to see anybody stop me deliverin' 'em.' I says, 'No windmill is goin' to stop me deliverin' my aigs.' I says, 'It's all right.' I says, 'For these city folks to stand around the corners giggin' and carryin' on and 'avin' a good time lartin' at you young policeman, I've got business.' I says, 'I'll show you young fellows, I says, 'So I ups and walks right down Yates Street and crosses over at Broad where they ain't got no windmill. That'll show 'em! Wot every body 'ad ought to do is to refuse to cross at Yates and Douglas and go somewhere else and just leave 'em standin' there a-turnin' their silly windmill 'till they bust. Ignore 'em, that's the only way; just ignore 'em. After a while they'll get tired and go 'ome. 'Tain't the policemen's fault—such nice young fellows, one with a yeller mustache, too—but the city ain't got no right to be puttin' on these silly 'imaginin' it's a city or somethin'."

WARNING

LET NOT the authorities disregard the voice of Mrs. Noggins. It is the voice of deep civic unrest and protest, of rebellion against all attempts to regiment us and herd us and stop us from running into one another at the corners in the good old way.

One was further struck with the philosophic calm and detachment of Victoria in a world gone mad—the other day when the unfortunate King of Yugoslavia and the French Foreign Minister were assassinated. The nation rocked with excitement. War clouds gathered over Europe. The foreign offices shuddered. But Victoria went on as usual, undisturbed. I happened to be at a large party that night, and everyone I talked to would say: "Terrible about the assassination, eh? I suppose we shall be at war again soon. But say, have you seen the traffic signals at the corner of Yates and Douglas?" And everybody would laugh raucously.

The civic authorities should beware how they tamper with such a people as we are. They should pause before they crush this proud spirit. Goldsmith, scorning the aristocracy, lamented the passing of the British peasant. But had he lived now, unquestionably he would have said: "But a bold pedestrian, his country's pride, when once destroyed, can never be supplied." That line occurs in "The Deserted Village." A prophetic title which should be a solemn warning to us.

USURY

To the Editor:—On the front page of The Times, October 6, there are two news items.

Number one tells about the new Imperial Bank building in Toronto to cost $1,000,000. No loan required to finance the job.

Number two, new Fraser Bridge, government job, has to be financed by a $1,000,000 loan—why? One word of five letters answers this, and also most of the questions asked by observer in The Times of October 5, and that word is "usury."

The money lending interests, who produce nothing except debts and trouble for the rest of the world, was the cause of the recent World War, and is the cause of the present worldwide depression.

SALADA TEA

The Clue of The Forgotten Murder

CARLETON KENDRAKE © 1934 SEA Service Inc.

"Whatever you do, don't be sneaky. Don't get to skulking around corners, listening at key holes, peering through windows. Just right in. You've got a job—it's a legitimate job. Frank B. Cathay is going to claim that his reputation is worth something and that we've damaged it. All right, the question of what that reputation is worth is a fact to be determined. It depends on a lot of things. You're going to find out what you're doing. Don't let anyone get you on the defensive. Do you understand?"

Morden nodded.

"You're engaged in a fight," Dan Bleeker said, "and there's a dignity about a fighter, as long as he stands on his two feet and fights. Remember this about The Blade, young man. It doesn't snoop—it fights. You're going into Riverview as the representative of The Blade. You're going to fight one of the most powerful men in the city. You'll find all the home guard arrayed against you. They'll try to frame you. They'll do everything they can to make things disagreeable for you. Stand up and take it right on the chin, and don't let them stampede you or make you even hesitate. If you get a chance, you tell them that The Blade is in this thing to the finish; that if they frame something on you and get you out of Riverview, there'll be another man to take your place."

"And as far as Frank B. Cathay is concerned, don't make any bones of it. Attend meetings of his luncheon club. Mingle around in the city. Smile at him. Be cordial to him. But never forget the one fact that you're there to blast his reputation wide open. Do you understand?"

"Yes, sir," said Morden.

"Can you do it?"

"Yes, sir."

"Get started, then."

Ethel West, Dan Bleeker's secretary, was long-legged and languid. Her face held an expression of perpetual weariness which seemed due not so much to a disapproval of her environment as to the people who filled it.

She surveyed the woman before her with glassy eyes that stared in expressionless appraisal from behind spectacles.

"Your name," she said, "is Mrs. Frank B. Cathay. You're from Riverview and you wish to see Mr. Bleeker but won't explain the nature of your business. Is that right?"

The woman was expensively gowned and well kept; her manner regal, yet worried. Her face was nestled against the collar of a fur coat, a collar which had been carefully selected to set off the delicate oval of the face, when that face was held against the collar at just such an angle.

"Yes," she said. "Will you be so good as to tell him I am here?"

Ethel West moved with slow deliberation.

"You'll have to wait," she said.

"Will you be seated?"

Mrs. Cathay bit at her underlip. Then her face once more relaxed into perfect repose.

"Thank you," she said in a voice that was neither cordial nor grateful. She remained standing.

MILLIONS USE RINSO IN TUB, WASHER AND DISHPAN

That is, in his rage, you know. He reaches some decision on the spur of the moment when he's real mad about something, and then he's so proud and obstinate to back up."

She seemed to snuggle into the fur coat with a quick squirming motion. Her head, tilted to one side, rested against the high fur collar. Her eyes, as well as her lips, smiled intimately at Dan Bleeker.

CHAPTER V

Mrs. Cathay straightened. Her eyes ceased to smile and there was a swift rushing impetus to her words as she went on:

"I'm going to speak frankly, Mr. Bleeker, because I can see that you're a business man, and that you like plain, frank dealing. I understand from my attorney that when an influential citizen files a libel suit against a newspaper the newspaper immediately starts digging into his past, trying to find some old scandal or something that can be dug up. Is that true?"

Dan Bleeker met her gaze with sombre savagery in his black eyes.

"Of course that's true," he said. "We're publishing a newspaper. We work at high speed. We try to keep from making mistakes. Occasionally we make a mistake. That's all it is. We do everything we can to rectify that injury. We publish a retraction. If it's a very serious injury we file the fact away in our minds. We try to give that man a break some time. We try to make it up to him."

"I don't want to fight you, then," he said. "You know and I know that nobody was ever damaged by a libel that was the result of an innocent mistake. That is, there was never any damage done that could be rectified by a retraction. We're always willing to publish a retraction when we're in the wrong. When a man wants to capitalize on our misfortune we fight."

"When we fight, we fight. We use every weapon that we can get our hands on."

"Do you," she asked, "think that it's fair to hit below the belt?"

"When a man starts fighting us," he said, "we fight him. If he kicks at us, we kick at him. If he goes in the trenches, we go in. If he hits below the belt, we hit below the belt."

"But," she said, "suppose you shouldn't be able to find anything derogatory to a man's character?"

"Bah!" Bleeker snorted. "We're all of us human. You take a man who goes to a city and becomes a prominent citizen and he gets a lot of boot licking. The first thing he knows, he's trying to live up to it. He hasn't got nerve enough to come out and be human and admit that he's a human being like the other folks. A certain type of small town likes to play up to that sort of a man."

"Those are the men who always have something they want hushed up. We're all of us just about as much good and just about as much bad in us."

"My husband isn't like that," Mrs. Cathay said.

Bleeker's retort was blunt.

"Then what are you here for?" he asked.

She made that quick, biting motion with her teeth and lower lip.

"You're making it very hard for me," she said.

"You're making it hard for yourself," he told her. "Tell me what you've got to say and get it over with. It's these gushing preliminaries of yours that are making the trouble."

She stared at him and took a deep breath. The animation faded from her face. Her eyes ceased to sparkle at him. Her voice no longer gave a suggestion of well modulated intimacy but was cold, flat, and final.

"Frank," she said, "is a fool. He had no business taking the stand he did. You publish a retraction; that's all there'll be to it."

"Who says so?" asked Dan Bleeker.

"I say so."

"And what does your husband say?" he asked.

"What my husband says doesn't count," she said. "I have Mr. Charles Fisher of the firm of Fisher, Barr and McLeamy in my suite at the Palace Hotel. Mr. Fisher is my husband's intimate associate and advisor. He's been with him for years. He knows Frank better than almost anyone in the world. They were in business together in South Africa before Frank came to Riverview. In fact, Frank brought Charles Fisher to Riverview, put up the funds which sent him through law school and financed his first few years while he was building up a practice. It's only one of numerous good turns my husband has done."

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

FALL VEGETABLES ARE DISTINCTIVE

By MARY E. DAGUE

In my time I have read poems about rosy-cheeked apples, emerald and scarlet peppers, purple eggplant, products of the garden, including the lowly potato, but I have yet to find a poet who has seized upon the good homely, and not unattractive, parsnip for inspiration. And I think the field is really a fertile one.

It is not among poets alone that this strange prejudice against the wholesome parsnip persists. Plenty of housewives turn away from it with scorn, or at least with indifference, and yet the faddiest man of my acquaintance (from a food point of view, anyway) declared that parsnips have a delicacy of flavor unsurpassed by any other vegetable.

His favorite recipe calls for scalloping the parsnip with pineapple. And since this is vegetable day for us, let us see what we think of his favorite.

PARSNIPS SCALLOPED WITH PINEAPPLE
 Four good sized parsnips, 1 small pineapple, 1/2 cup brown sugar, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 2 tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons flour, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1 cup soup stock or water.

Scrub and scrape parsnips. Parboil fifteen minutes and cut in rounds about half inch thick. Cut pineapple in pieces of equal size and buttered baking dish, sprinkle with layer with brown sugar and cinnamon and dotting with butter and flour rubbed together. Sprinkle with salt and pour in chicken stock or water. Bake in a moderate oven until both parsnips and pineapple are tender. Serve from baking dish. It will take about forty-five minutes for the mixture to bake.

DUTCH RED CABBAGE
 One head red cabbage, 1 large sweet onion, 2 large tart apples, 4 tablespoons butter or other shortening, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon black pepper, 1/2 cup rich cream.

Remove bruised or wilted outside leaves of cabbage and cut in quarters. Cut out core and chop with a knife in chopping bowl or shred on a board. Put into boiling salted water and boil five minutes. Drain. Melt butter in another saucepan and add onion finely minced, apple pared, onion boiled and cut in thin slices, salt and pepper. Add cabbage and cook very slowly for thirty minutes, tossing mixture frequently to prevent burning. Due to cook evenly. Five minutes before ready to serve add cream.

FRIED GREEN TOMATOES
 The tomatoes must be firm and green clear through. Wash and cut out stem end. Cut in slices about one-quarter inch thick and drop into cold salt water. Two tablespoons portion to one cup of water is the proportion to use. Let stand one hour and drain. Roll in fine dried bread crumbs. Dip each slice in egg slightly beaten with 1 tablespoon cold water. Roll again in crumbs. Put three tablespoons butter or other shortening in a frying pan and fry until browned on both sides.

PIRATE POEM DRAMATIZED

Epic By Berton Braley on Life of Sir Henry Morgan to Be Broadcast To-morrow

Preceding its publication, Berton Braley's new epic poem, "Morgan Sails the Caribbean," will be presented in dramatized form over National Broadcasting Company networks from 8 to 9 a.m. Victoria time, to-morrow.

"Sir Henry Morgan the Buccaneer," the radio adaptation by Paul Wing, NBC story man, will be given original background music from original scores written especially for the production by Frank Black, NBC conductor and composer. Black will direct the NBC orchestra and the NBC Male Chorus assisting the orchestra. Wing will take the titular role and George Chad, NBC actor, will be narrator.

In presenting this dramatization of the amazing exploits of the gentleman-pirate, Sir Henry Morgan, the National Broadcasting Company anticipates the appearance in book form of the epic poem, scheduled by the Macmillan Company for October 22.

Berton Braley, widely known poet and novelist, and Paul Wing, writer and actor, were born together in their home town of Madison, Wis., where they are associated now. In this NBC presentation, their first professional collaboration, Wing's father gave young Braley his first job, that of office boy in a farm implement concern during summer vacations.

A network including stations KPO and KOMO will re-broadcast the broadcast for local listeners.

Rosa Ponselle Record Holder

Famous Radio Singer Uses Applause Microphone, Above Audience's Heads, and Fifteen Feet from Stage

Last year Rosa Ponselle had the reputation of singing farther from the microphone during a broadcast than any other artist, her position varying from five to seven feet away from the instrument. But now, it seems as though the diva is making certain of her laurels. She is doing what no other singer has ever thought was possible, and yet her first return programme proved it highly successful.

Standing on the stage of the Columbia Radio Playhouse, Miss Ponselle sings in full voice just as she would on the operatic stage. No microphone is visible to the spectators. For it is the "mike" suspended over the heads of the audience fifteen feet from the stage, which ordinarily is used for the applause pickup that brings Miss Ponselle's songs to radio listeners. In the meanwhile the puzzled spectators wonder whether they are really witnessing a broadcast.

FEATURE WORKS OF BRAHMS AND WAGNER

Leopold Stokowski will conduct the Philadelphia Orchestra in its first broadcast of the fall season from the Academy of Music, Philadelphia, over the Columbia network, from 12 noon to 2 p.m., P.M., to-morrow.

Devoted to the music of Brahms and Wagner, Stokowski's programme will feature the former composer's "Liebesnacht" music from Wagner's "Tristan and Isolde," and excerpts from act 3 of "Parsifal."

The programme offers strong contrast in mood and poetic content. The Brahms work is the most popular of his symphonies, full of strength, dramatic contrast, and the suggestion of great deeds. The Wagnerian excerpts will be heard in the settings especially arranged by Stokowski.

KOL, KVI and KSL will be among the stations bringing the broadcast to Victoria listeners.

I've learned a secret about beautiful floors

It's so easy to keep your floors gleaming if you use Johnson's Glo-Coat! This marvelous polish shines as it dries. You don't do any rubbing or buffing. Simply spread Glo-Coat lightly over floor surface and you are through. Glo-Coat dries in 20 minutes with a bright polish, protecting linoleum, rubber tile, painted and varnished wood from wear. It saves you hours of time and labor.

Send for generous trial can—enough for small kitchen or bathroom.

Mrs. W. E. Scott, who returned recently from several months' visit to relatives and friends in England, arrived on Salt Spring Island on Saturday and will spend a few weeks at Ganges, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Crofton, at Harbor House.

CAMPAIGN OFF TO GOOD START

Cheques Received to Aid Charity Drive For $43,500 in Greater Victoria

Already many subscriptions have been received at the campaign headquarters in the Winch Building for the drive for $43,500, which will be opened Monday morning by the Friendly Help Welfare Association and welfare societies in Oak Bay, Saanich and Esquimalt. Over 1,000 letters have been sent to citizens of Greater Victoria this week and the prompt replies to many of them have been gratifying.

Starting Monday morning canvassers will call on householders in Victoria and the surrounding municipalities, and officers of the various organizations connected with the drive ask that they be given a sympathetic hearing.

A total of 381 families were looked after in Victoria during the last twelve months. Many of these families received new and used clothing, while many were in receipt of social service work.

In Saanich municipality the welfare society there looked after 482 families, giving them material relief. All social service work in the three municipalities, however, is looked after by the trained case workers from the Friendly Help Welfare Association.

The Esquimalt Friendly Help keeps an eye on sixty-two families in that municipality. Groceries, new clothing and shoes, fuel, milk and special food are supplied free of charge where they are needed. This society also pays for Christmas hampers sent out in the district.

An average of fifteen families are looked after each week of the year by the Oak Bay Friendly Help Association. Dental and optical work is provided where necessary and medical supplies are given. All men in Oak Bay doing out-of-door work to the number of about fifty, have been supplied with heavy rubber boots and work gloves. Stoves and other articles of furniture have been given in certain cases and large quantities of canned fruits and vegetables have been distributed.

Duncan

Duncan, Oct. 11.—About 180 attended the fancy dress dance given under the auspices of the Cowichan Girl Guides in the Guide Hall, on Friday evening. The judges, Mrs. Hugh Savage, Mrs. F. W. Galloway and Mrs. M. Wade awarded the prizes as follows: Children under ten years of age: Noella Kirkham, Dutch girl; Kazuyu Toyota, Japanese lady; Dawn Aldersey, fairy; Richard Blissett, pirate, and Jack Fielden, cowboy. Children over ten years of age: Jill Humphreys, Bo-peep; Vera Gibson, Scotsman; John Galloway, Mephistopheles; Kathleen Brown, Poudre, and Anne Moore, Fied Piper. The Girl Guides were in charge of all arrangements, under the direction of Guide Captain Miss Dawson-Thomson, and Guide Lieutenant Noble Owen. Lorna Castley, with her helpers, decorated the hall with autumn foliage. Supper arrangements were in the hands of Guide Frances Bishop and Guides Mary Savage and Irene Fraser. The advertising was in charge of Anne Galloway and Audrey Lovell. Judges were secured by Shirley Gooding and Dorothy Duncan, and Barbara Fawcett had charge of the tickets. W. Dwyer took the money at the door.

The directors of the Cowichan Agricultural Society Monday read a letter from C. Tice of the Department of Agriculture regarding the provincial seed fair to be held in December. Mr. Tice will be invited to meet the directors and discuss matters relating to the fair. The financial statement of the annual fall fair was submitted and while a surplus of $250 was shown on the fair operation, there is a deficit of approximately $200 when office expenses are deducted. In spite of the deficit the directors decided that all awards would be paid in full. Negotiations are under way with a basketball organization for the use of the hall this winter. A largely signed petition was ordered sent to the Attorney-General's department urging that the law respecting the shooting over highways and near residences be strictly enforced.

The Misses Alice Ross and Mary Compton-Lundie were joint hostesses at a shower at the home of the former on Monday afternoon in honor of Miss Violet Walker, whose marriage to Mr. H. Windle of Comox will take place shortly. Many lovely gifts were brought in on a prettily decorated tea wagon, with a doll dressed as a bride in the centre. Among the invited guests were the Misses Joyce and Josie Bains, Susan and Tootles Boyd-Wallis, Patricia Carr Hilton, Elsie Roome, A. Wells, D. Prior, Dorothy Lamb, Winifred Dawson-Thomson, Susanna Hadwen, Mary Maer and others.

The many friends of E. W. Carr Hilton will be glad to learn that he is recuperating at his home in Duncan after his recent severe fall and consequent sojourn in the hospital.

C. H. Aldersmith was the winner of the men's monthly medal played for on the links at Duncan on Sunday with a net score of 62, handicap 15. Others competing were O. Droob, N. R. Craig, C. C. Wright, W. P. Powell, A. Leeming, R. C. Mainguy, J. Martin, F. Leeming, R. W. Whildon, D. Crane, Dr. V. W. Tariton and Col. A. F. M. Slater.

Norman Martin is the winner of the first flight of the club championship, defeating T. H. Kingscot 1 up on Saturday last.

FARMERS' FROLIC HELD AT GANGES

Ganges, Oct. 11.—Under the auspices of the Ganges Women's Institute a "Farmers' Frolic" dance was held in the Mahon Hall on Friday evening. The proceeds in aid of the Agricultural Association's repair fund. Carrying out the idea of a farmers' evening, the hall was decorated with sheaves of corn, wheat and other grain mixed with trails of scarlet Virginia creeper and feathery masses of "Old Man." About 170 were present, the large majority of whom were dressed in farmers' costumes, ancient and modern, of any nationality. Bert Roberts's orchestra supplied the up-to-date music. At 11:30 the grand march took place and the judges, Mrs. F. W. Faux, S. Morrison and S. Merritt awarded prizes, which consisted entirely of farm produce, as follows: English farmer and farm market woman, respectively: George Elliott, New England farmer, and Mrs. Norman Wilson as old market woman. Tomahawk prizes were won by Mrs. W. I. Rogers, Mrs. Gordon Reade, Mrs. Ryan, Miss Ruby Thompson, Miss Margery Howard and Dick Chandler. The prizes were all presented by Mrs. P. Price Sr., with Bert Roberts announcing.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES

John Citizen talks to John Citizen about Converting His Victory Bonds

"WELL, John, I see that the Government wants us to convert our Victory Bonds. Are you going to convert yours?"

"I have already converted them into the 15-year 3 1/2% Bonds of the Refunding Loan."

"You have? What made you do that? Don't you think you might have done better?"

"No, I don't."

"Why not?"

"For the very good reason that I have been in and out of lots of investments and speculations since 1919, and some of them have given me plenty of worry. But I have never lost a wink of sleep over my Dominion of Canada Bonds."

"That may be, but there is a big difference between 5 1/2% and current interest rates."

"That's true. But in the past few years the losses I have made in buying investments with my mind more on high return than safety have been just too bad. If I had been content to invest all my surplus in Dominion of Canada Bonds at even less than 3%, I would have been money ahead. Haven't you, yourself, lost any capital through unwise investments?"

"I'll say I have... but still—"

"Still nothing, John. I've learned from hard experience that if my principal isn't safe then I haven't made a good investment."

"Well, how do you account for the difference between 5 1/2% and a yield of 3.81%?"

"Easily enough. Compare conditions in 1919 with what they are today. In 1919 money rates were wartime rates. All nations were bidding for capital.

Canada, Great Britain, the United States and other countries were obliged to pay abnormally high rates for loans. Today, money is much cheaper. I was reading, for instance, that Canada had borrowed money at 2% in New York for a short term, and in London at less than 3 1/4% for a long term."

"That's right—I remember seeing that."

"Well, doesn't that show how good Canada's credit is? The way I look at it is that if Canada can borrow money abroad at these rates then it is up to us to show that we have as much faith in Canada as British and United States investors. Then there is another thing: I understand that Canada has already saved over $9,000,000 a year in interest charges by refunding previous war loans; and another $5,000,000 a year will be saved when this Loan has been refunded."

"There is something in that, but why only 3.81%?"

"Because that is the rate at which Dominion Bonds are now selling in the open market. That is the rate at which our Insurance Companies and other experienced investors are willing to buy them. If to get safety they are willing to accept these rates, then I ought to be satisfied. I would rather have 3.81% and be safe than go after twice as much and be nervous about the safety of my principal."

"After all, Canada has done pretty well in paying 5 1/2% for fifteen years. So, now, we can afford to do a bit in return. I think it is up to everybody to get behind this Loan and make it a success. A successful Loan is bound to help business."

RATEPAYERS REORGANIZE

Saanich Central Group to Be Created at Representative Meeting November 6

A committee to reorganize the Central Saanich Ratepayers' Association, a body which has not functioned for the last fourteen months, was named at a meeting in Tolmie school yesterday evening, attended by delegates from Wards Three, Four and Seven. The old association will be disbanded and the new one created on November 6.

Members of the committee are: Tom L. Sargeant, president of the present association and Ward Seven representative; C. Atkinson, Ward

Four, and A. G. Lambrick, Ward Three.

The committee will visit other associations in the municipality and solicit their support to the first meeting by asking them to appoint three delegates each. A new constitution will be prepared and offered to the meeting for approval.

Keating, Oct. 11.—A bridge and 500 third party was held in the Mount Newton High School Saturday evening under the auspices of the Mount Newton Parent-Teacher Association. First prize winners for bridge were Mrs. W. Bate and F. Sutton; second, Mrs. L. Thompson and H. T. Wright. Five hundred winners were Messrs. Sarrup and T. B. Ogley. Refreshments were served at the close of the game by the committee in charge.

A large number attended the bee Saturday morning when the painting of the high school bicycle shed was completed. The annual meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association will be held in the high school Monday evening, October 15, when election of officers will take place.

CAMP STRIFE CLOSES MILL

Port Alberni, Oct. 11.—Labor trouble in the logging camps will force the closing down of the large mill of the Alberni Pacific Lumber Company it became known here today. The company gave notice that the mill will close at 5 o'clock this evening. Three hundred and fifty men are affected.

Yesterday the men on day shift were called together by Elmer F. Gillespie, mill superintendent, who read to them the following notice:

"This mill has been short of logs ever since the strike last spring, and has been losing three or four days each month. A strike has now been called at Camp Five. The company is going on logging, but we are obliged to shut the mill down to-morrow night until the camps get back on production."

Camp Five is the largest logging camp of the Alberni Pacific Lumber Company, situated about seven miles down the Alberni Canal.

At a meeting of loggers held yesterday morning a strike vote showed 99 in favor and 51 against. The camp immediately closed down.

M. A. Grainger, president of the company, arrived in the city yesterday.

Members of the strike committee state the men are not on strike for higher wages or better working conditions. They allege the company refused to take back after the strike in May, certain men who were attempting to organize.

Mr. Grainger issued the following statement:

"After the logging strike last spring the Alberni Pacific Lumber Company took back every man without exception. The company also established the highest wage scale in the lumber business of British Columbia and also established a camp accommodation second to none."

"Then men came back on the clear understanding that there was to be no camp committee or organization meetings in the camp."

"If the men wanted to have meetings they could hold them at Port Alberni."

"Soon after the return to work last May the union organizations announced in their publication that they were going to force camp committees on the Alberni Pacific Lumber camps whether the company liked it or not. Meetings were held in Camp Five and organization was begun."

"On account of this breach of faith the company was obliged to let out those concerned. A short time ago the two organizers, slipped into Camp Five after dark, held a meeting and appointed a camp organizer. They also published a statement that the company knew what was taking place and intended to take no action."

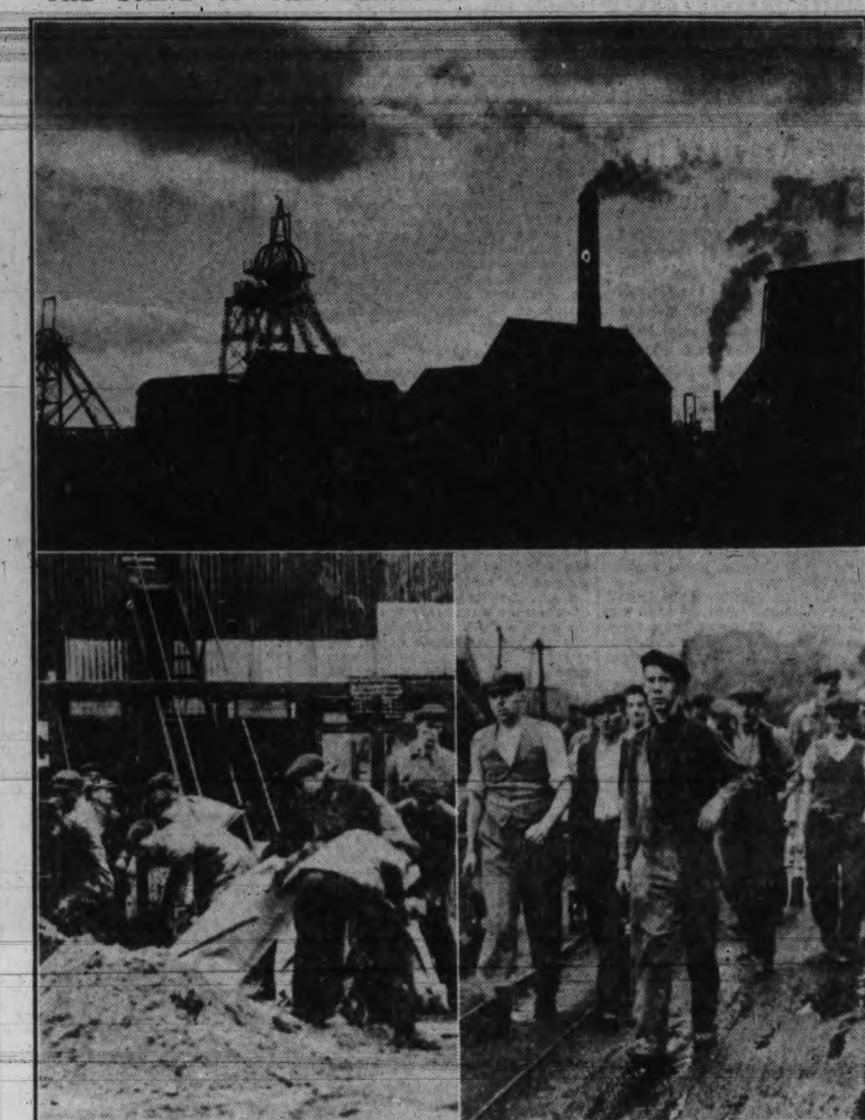

"When the company discharged this organizer other meetings were held and the company had to take further action with the result that the strike took place."

"This organization picked on the Alberni Pacific Lumber Company because they knew we were short of logs so that this would be an opportunity to call a strike."

THE SCENE OF THE TERRIBLE MINE DISASTER IN WALES

A terrible disaster occurred at the Gresford Colliery, near Wrexham, North Wales, recently, when approximately 264 miners lost their lives through an explosion which was followed by fire. Rescue work had to be abandoned and the mine sealed. At the top is a picture of the colliery silhouetted against the setting sun like a huge tombstone. Below, left, miners working frantically filling bags with sand and stone dust to be used in blocking the burning section of the mine. Right, a rescue party arriving at the pithead to start a futile attempt to save some of their comrades.

abled men was referred to by General Alex. Ross, Dominion president of the Canadian Legion, following a visit to the Red Cross Workshop here yesterday.

He reiterated his appeal made before the veterans' meeting on Tuesday evening for better conditions for the disabled veterans. This situation could be helped by united support of the drive for funds through the sale of poppies on Remembrance Day.

Ganges Boy Dies From Gun Wounds

Ganges, Oct. 11.—Within a few hours after he was admitted to hospital, Ronald Whins, who was found shot in his home on Tuesday, between 5 and 6 o'clock, died from wounds in his chest and abdomen. His right arm was also shattered. It is thought that Ronald and his brother Willie, who is a year older, had found some shells for a gun which the father had left unguarded. They had been left alone in the house when the accident happened, Charles Whins, the father, stated at a preliminary inquiry held by Coroner J. P. Collins.

The Romanoff dynasty ruled Russia from 1613 to 1917.

ONE OF THE SECRETS OF FRENCH COOKERY

says Mary Blake

"HOW tempting a most ordinary food is made by the addition of an attractive sauce—one that is smooth and creamy, with delicate flavours well blended! The generous use of a variety of sauces is, to be sure, one of the secrets of French cookery," says Mary Blake in her famous book "100 Glorified Recipes".

And she might have added that the secret of a fine cream sauce is the use of Carnation Milk. Try the cream sauce recipe given here—for vegetables, fish, meats. Notice how smooth it is—how delicious—and how easy to make. Carnation Milk brings these results in all cooking where it is used because it is concentrated until it is twice as rich as bottle milk and because it is homogenized so that every drop is equally creamy. And you save money by using Carnation at to-day's price.

Peter II, healthy, outdoor-loving lad of eleven, shown here in three poses, is the new king of Yugoslavia, succeeding his assassinated father, King Alexander I. He was proclaimed king in Belgrade to-day. Left, Peter is shown in the uniform of the Sokol, gymnastic organization of which he is the head. Centre, he is seen as he arrived in London recently on his way to school at Eton. With him is his cousin, Prince Alexander, wearing cap. Right, Peter is shown rowing on the lake at Bled, famous mountain resort in his homeland. He is an all-around athlete.

SCHOOL SAVING IS ANTICIPATED

City Trustees Expect to Meet Promise to Council With $5,000 Economy

With stringent economies, the Victoria School Board expects to be able to effect a saving of approximately $5,000 on the school estimates as originally passed, Trustee T. B. Monk, chairman of the finance committee, told the board at its meeting yesterday evening. The board had promised that saving to the City Council when the department of education increased its grants to teachers earlier in the year.

Providing the good weather holds, the board hopes to save $2,000 on fuel and light and to effect a saving of $3,000 in other economies. It orders to forward that the teachers of various schools will be circulated to co-operate in tightening the purse strings. Elimination of temporary labor, decision to secure no new furniture or apparatus and economy on supplies is expected to bring about the desired saving.

RESOLUTION FILED
The trustees received, noted and filed a resolution from the City Council aiming to give preference to residents of the city in civic positions. In effect the resolution requests new appointments to be made from city residents, and asks that those working in the city institutions move in from outside municipalities or give reason for their continued residence outside Victoria proper.

RECTOR WINS COURT TEST

Injunction Prevents Bishop Removing Rev. C. S. Mook From Seattle Church

Associated Press
Seattle, Oct. 11.—Superior Judge Howard M. Findley yesterday issued a permanent injunction enjoining Rev. S. Arthur Huston, Episcopal Bishop of Olympia, from ousting Rev. Charles Stanley Mook from Trinity Parish.

Counsel for the vestry, which originally sought to remove the clergyman from the parish after disputes over his salary and other matters, said they would continue efforts to oust him.
The vestry asked Mr. Mook to take a salary cut or resign. He refused to do either, at least until the arrears were paid on his salary. The vestry appealed to the bishop, who took no part in the disagreement, but said that under the circumstances the laws of the church gave him authority to remove the rector. The court held he had no such authority without consulting his standing committee, a council of prominent churchmen in the diocese.

"Regardless of the outcome of his suit (for a permanent injunction) he is through as rector," said E. P. Whiting of counsel for the vestry. "Two different courses are open to us—we can appeal to the state supreme court, or we can have the standing committee of the diocese convened for a hearing of the case, in accordance with the judge's interpretation of canonical (church) law."
Ivan L. Ryland, chancellor of the Episcopal Diocese of Olympia, said the bishop would take no action in this matter, leaving it to the parish to decide.

NEW WORK WEEK PLANS STUDIED
Canadian Press
Winnipeg, Oct. 11.—Investigation of wages paid civic employees, with the object of ascertaining whether a forty-hour work week can be established for the entire civil service, was under way here to-day.

The inquiry was ordered by the civic legislation and utilities committees and will affect 2,000 employees. Pending settlement of the general question of working hours and rates of pay, cable joiners and linemen of the city hydro-electric system will be placed on a forty-hour week.

At present, civic employees' hours vary greatly, ranging from forty to fifty hours a week. Officials of the various organized groups of employees will be consulted during the investigation.

Saskatchewan Chinaman Sends Them Home to Make Oil For Rheumatism

Canadian Press
Medicine Hat, Alta., Oct. 11.—Local "snake catchers" have gone into the export business in a big way.
More than 200 live rattlesnakes have been shipped from the Hilda district this fall to a consignee at Lloydminster. The buyer pays well for the snakes.

A shipment of thirteen went forward yesterday.
Edmonton, Oct. 11.—Alberta rattlesnakes will provide oil for the creaking joints of rheumatic Chinamen. The Edmonton Journal says in a special dispatch from its Lloydminster, Sask., correspondent, George Lee, Lloydminster cafe proprietor, the dispatch says, placed orders for 200 live rattlesnakes to be caught in the Hilda district of south Alberta. A writhing consignment of five snakes was received by Lee to-day.

The snakes are to be killed by Lee and "pickled" in alcohol and the appropriate combination of snakes and alcohol shipped to Lee's father in China. There, oil will be extracted from the snakes and used as a cure for rheumatism.
What will be done with the alcohol has not been revealed.

TEN CENTS A WEEK
is that a big price to be SURE of your Hair?

A simple way to keep your hair as you've arranged it—without using any sticky dressing

That's all it costs—a dime a week at the most—to be sure of your hair every day, and all day long. To know it's clean, and looks clean. To know it will stay as you arranged it. And to know no dandruff will sit to the surface.

That's what moistening your comb with a few drops of Danderine will do. And no amount of dry-combing will ever do. Nearly all hair needs the help that Danderine gives it. A dash of Danderine morning and night makes an amazing difference in the way any hair looks all the time! And the smallest size bottle will last over a month.

After you have washed your hair, a little Danderine will keep it from going better-asker. When you pay a dollar for a wave, Danderine will help you keep it. It isn't a sticky dressing, or an oily tonic, and it doesn't leave any telltale odor. Its fresh fragrance is gone quickly after it's applied—but not that marvelous effect of freshness and cleanliness!

It's a pity not to know this little secret that means so much in the way any hair will look. It's no trouble. Yet you can hardly believe anything so mild and pleasant as Danderine could bring such a change in the condition and appearance of your hair and scalp. Just try it. You can buy Danderine at any drugstore for thirty-five cents; larger sizes 60c and $1.00.

Nanaimo Calls For Oil Tax

Only Way to Save Coal Industry, Trade Board Says

Nanaimo, Oct. 11.—Roy Sargent presided over a short meeting of the Trade Board last night, the main item of interest being the resolution presented to Dr. W. A. Carrothers, chairman of the Economic Council, advocating an imposition of a 2c tax per gallon on foreign oil used as fuel for heating power, steam and domestic use, believing that in this tax lies the only hope of recovery of the coal industry on Vancouver Island.

A communication to the board acknowledged receipt of the resolution and said it would be brought before the next meeting of the economic council.

A communication from the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, dealing with reciprocal trade between trading countries, was referred to the trade and commerce committee for report.

A special tourist and publicity committee was appointed, with Shelby Saunders as chairman.

The local Orange Lily Lodge No. 100, were favored with a visit last night by the Right Worshipful Grand Mistress, Mrs. F. G. Findlay of Vancouver. The distinguished visitor was accompanied by Right Worshipful Past Grand Mistress, Mrs. S. Smith, Mrs. H. Allen, P.M., and Mrs. Marshall, all of Vancouver. Other officers present were: Mrs. E. Wright, Deputy Grand Mistress of Victoria, and P.M. Mrs. Dorothy Mann.

A ceremony was conferred upon a candidate under the direction of the captain, Mrs. Somers. The local officers were highly complimented on their efficiency and the leader of the order, who later delivered an inspiring address on "The History of Our Order." The guest of honor was presented with a silver engraved dish by Mrs. Thorne, on behalf of the Nanaimo lodge. Following the business meeting the members and guests retired to the banquet hall, where a sumptuous supper was served. The banquet was convened by Mrs. Olds and Miss Greta Burt. Mrs. Thorne had charge of the toast list.

Port Alberni

Port Alberni, Oct. 11.—Keen enthusiasm featured the reorganization meeting of the Port Alberni Badminton Club on Monday evening when a large number of new members were present and signified their intention of playing in the club next year.

Dr. A. P. Miller, of the Alberni district, an expert and enthusiastic shuttle player, was elected president, with Mrs. J. R. Dalton as vice-president, and Miss Mary Smith as secretary-treasurer. The executive committee will consist of Messrs Stanley Knowles and Hector Stewart. Playing nights will be Mondays and Thursdays from 8 p.m. to 12 midnight and October 15 has been selected as the opening night.

Miss Sheila Allard, daughter of B. P. Allard, station agent here, is now a member of the Sir John Martin Harvey Company touring the chief provincial centres of England. Miss Allard has been attending the Academy of Dramatic Arts in London for the last three years.

The annual meeting of the Port Alberni Choral Society was held on Monday evening when H. A. Cromie was elected president for the coming year. Other officers elected were: vice-president, Mrs. H. Golden; secretary-treasurer, Miss May Fowler; librarian, Mr. D'Alroy; choir leader, Mrs. R. G. Martin; and pianist, Mrs. Clarke Wright. Fees for membership will be reduced for the ensuing year and new members invited.

Mr. David McCollough arrived from Toronto on Saturday and conducted services on Sunday at Knox Presbyterian Church. He will assume charge for one year.

WOMAN'S WEAKNESS

YOUNG women who suffer from monthly pains, or headaches, side aches and women of middle age who suffer from heat flashes, nervousness, should take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

Mrs. A. Davis of 655 Nassau St., Winnipeg, Man., said: "About ten years ago I was in a runaway accident, lost weight gradually and was terribly nervous. I had frequent nervous headaches and lacked strength. I used Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and it strengthened me, drove away that nervous, weary condition and the headaches and I regained my normal weight and strength."

New size, tablets 50 cts., liquid $1.00.

WILL SHE BE THE BRIDE OF KEMAL PASHA?

From Vienna comes word that Mustapha Kemal Pasha, inset, fifty-seven-year-old dictator of Turkey, may choose a bride from the four marriageable sisters of King Zog of Albania. Prettiest of these girls is twenty-four-year-old Rukie, above, who is the second youngest. Rukie's sisters are Senis, twenty-six; Myzezen, twenty-five, and Mahide, twenty-three. The dictator was divorced in 1925 by his own decree.

Metchisin

Metchisin, Oct. 11.—Mrs. James Hampton who has been the guest of her brother, Mr. Herbert Hampton and Mrs. Hampton, has returned to her home at Prince Rupert.

Vancouver guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hampton during last week were Mrs. E. H. Shockey and daughter Vera, and Mr. Douglas Peterson.

Mrs. Roy Stuart, niece of Mrs. H. Hampton, also her sister, Miss Ruth Mearns, and Mrs. R. Telford, all of Brantford, Ont., spent the week-end at "The Brothers."

Friends of Henry C. Helgeson will regret to hear he is a patient in the Jubilee Hospital.

The monthly meeting and lecture of the horticultural section of the M.D.C. has been postponed from Monday, October 8 to October 15.

GREAT CENTRAL

Great Central, Oct. 11.—In honor of Miss Dorothy Mann, whose marriage will take place this month, Mrs. E. Demons was a bridge hostess at her home on Friday evening when the invited guests included Mrs. Bruce M. Parris, Mrs. B. M. Mann, Mrs. T. A. Brown, Mrs. C. G. Gifford, Mrs. R. Walsh, Mrs. D. Mills, Miss George McGonigal, Miss Margaret Wrotnowski, Miss Elizabeth Prescott, Mrs. Ralph Minorgan and Mrs. Leslie Toder.

Mrs. H. P. Strain, accompanied by her daughters Janet and Frances, and son, Hillard, left on Sunday to spend a short holiday at Victoria, where Mrs. Strain will place her daughter Frances and her son Hillard at college in the capital city.

Mrs. P. Haslam left on Thursday to spend her annual vacation in the south, where she will be the guest of her daughter, Mrs. C. Neubaumer, San Francisco.

The club's annual activities include the staging of three benefit dances each year. Practically the entire income of the organization is devoted to charity. Two of the club's members hold offices on the Victoria Service Clubs Council.

One year ago the club founded a branch of their organization at Vancouver.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES

Fine Cast At The Playhouse

Proof that ultra-modernistic sets are not always necessary adjuncts to the success of a motion picture has been emphasized by Director William K. Howard in the new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production, "This Side of Heaven," which opens to-day at the Playhouse Theatre.

A decided contrast from his most recent directorial achievements, Howard chose to tackle what ordinarily appear as uneventful, everyday incidents in the normal life of an average family and weave them into a tense drama involving every member of the family.

For this, Director Howard has utilized settings that are seen on every hand in almost every phase of normal modern life.

Lionel Barrymore, as an auditor who is innocently involved in an embezzlement that may send him to prison, experiences the greatest tragedy in his life in an average business office.

Mae Clarke, as a school teacher loved by two men, meets the climax of her life in the classroom.

Also being shown as a second feature is Adolphe Menjou in "The Night Club Lady."

CAPITOL THEATRE

If it had not been for Mary Garden, Grace Moore, famous singing star, would have been teaching breathers their ABC's instead of warbling her delightful voice in "One Night of Love," now at the Capitol Theatre.

While Miss Moore was still playing her pitiable back in Jellico, Tennessee, she thought it would be simply grand to be a missionary, and had picked out the Chinese as the heathens she would enlighten.

Grace was a devout Sunday school teacher. She sang in morning services, led a children's choir in the afternoon, and was a soloist at evening services. She had visions of knocking her yellow charges pop-eyed with her voice. And then she heard Mary Garden sing. She forgot the early missionary ambition and concentrated upon becoming a singer.

(a) Old Gillespie Road in Parcel "A"—Commencing at a point in Section 105, Esquimalt District, said point being 20 feet north of the most northerly point of the easterly boundary of the right-of-way of Atkins Road as shown on a plan deposited in the Department of Public Works at Victoria, B.C., and numbered "1934-7" Road Survey; thence S 37 deg. 30 min. E. 143.4 feet; thence S 44 deg. 37 min. W. 119.5 feet; thence S 37 deg. 30 min. E. 143.4 feet; thence S 44 deg. 37 min. Guy Kibbee Will Be Starred Here

"Big Hearted Herbert," a Warner Bros. comedy romance, comes to the screen of the Dominion Theatre tomorrow as the feature attraction.

There is an all star cast headed by the inimitable comedy team, Aline MacMahon and Guy Kibbee, whom audiences will remember for their hilarious team work in "The Merry Frinks" and "Gold Diggers of 1933."

The picture, based on an uproariously funny story by the famous author, Sophie Kerr, while largely comedy, is spiced with a delightful romance with the charming Patricia Ellis and Phillip Reed in the roles of the lovers. Their affair runs the gamut of exceedingly rough paths, however, in the shape of paternal wrath on the part of a crabbed and crochety parent.

Mae Clarke, as a school teacher loved by two men, meets the climax of her life in the classroom.

Also being shown as a second feature is Adolphe Menjou in "The Night Club Lady."

Clever Dance Team Coming

Chic Myers, well-known radio and stage star, and leader of a popular ten-piece orchestra, will bring his international Revue to Victoria tomorrow for a three-day engagement at the Empire Theatre.

This revue comes here with the plaudits of theatrical critics in many of the larger cities where it has appeared. There are thirty artists with the company and most of them are Broadway stars in their own right.

The dancing team of Rosita and Perez is one of the highlights of this bill. They perform clever Indian and ballet dances of a higher type. The three Martin sisters, who have appeared in eastern radio broadcasts provide clever vocal harmony, while Virginia May takes care of the tap dancing.

Romance written in words of fire deep in the hearts of the lovers of the world!

That is one of the descriptive phrases used to herald the coming of Cecil B. DeMille's newest Paramount production, "Cleopatra," which will open its engagement at the Capitol Theatre Saturday.

The film, a modern screen treatment of one of the world's greatest love stories, has Claudette Colbert, Warren William and Henry Wilcoxon in the principal parts. Wilcoxon is the young Englishman DeMille brought to Hollywood for the role of Mark Antony, the noble Roman who gave up his life for love of the Egyptian queen while empires tottered about him.

"Cleopatra" To Open Saturday

The setting is the Shalimar Gardens, which inspired the undying melody based on the poem of Lawrence Hope, "Beside the Shalimar."

Famed in the literature of every people, the Shalimar Gardens are regarded by travelers the world over as the one place of flawless beauty.

Showing as a second feature is Elissa Landi in "The Great Flirtation."

Romance written in words of fire deep in the hearts of the lovers of the world!

That is one of the descriptive phrases used to herald the coming of Cecil B. DeMille's newest Paramount production, "Cleopatra," which will open its engagement at the Capitol Theatre Saturday.

The film, a modern screen treatment of one of the world's greatest love stories, has Claudette Colbert, Warren William and Henry Wilcoxon in the principal parts. Wilcoxon is the young Englishman DeMille brought to Hollywood for the role of Mark Antony, the noble Roman who gave up his life for love of the Egyptian queen while empires tottered about him.

Alf Davy Stars For Coast Team

ACCORDING to expert opinion from all parts of the world Fred Perry ranks number one lawn tennis player for 1934. During the year he won the Australian, Wimbledon and United States championships and he won both his matches in the challenge round of the Davis Cup. On major performances, therefore, Perry's premier position must be indisputable. But the second position is open to opinion. Bill Tilden is an interesting ranking list as follows:

F. J. Perry, Great Britain; H. W. Austin, Great Britain; G. Von Cramm, Germany; J. H. Crawford, Australia; S. B. Wood, United States; P. X. Shields, United States; V. McGrath, Australia; C. Boussus, France; R. Menzel, Czechoslovakia; and L. Stoeven, United States.

That list is open to criticism in regard to the places of Wood and Shields, Crawford, and the omission of Wilmer Allison, M. Pierre Gilou, president of the French Lawn Tennis Federation gives the following list: Perry, Crawford, Von Cramm, Austin, Allison, Wood, Menzel, Shields, Boussus and G. de Stefani, Italy. Wilms Myers supplies the same list but reverses the positions of de Stefani and Boussus, the Frenchman taking the tenth place. These lists do not indicate whether Davis Cup matches are given marks. Apparently not, and that omission furnishes the main weakness. The Davis Cup indicates the champion nation. As such the premier Davis Cup fixtures and their results should be given the highest percentage of marks. To win the Davis Cup is more important than victory in any national championship.

Every leading player competes for this cup. National championships generally show omissions, although this year's Wimbledon was singularly free from omissions, although the primary importance of the Davis Cup and the fact that in the challenge round H. W. Austin won both his singles matches, leading critics think that W. T. Tilden is right in ranking H. W. Austin as the world's number two player. Similarly Crawford was final at both Wimbledon and at Auteuil and his performance in the Davis Cup brought Australia into the latter final where he beat Shields and only lost to Wood in the fifth set. For those reasons Crawford should be ranked third and Von Cramm perhaps fourth because he won the French and German championships.

Kirby, the young South African stylist, has definitely deserved a place in the first five, having been beaten by Tilden, Gilou and Myers. For this very definite reason. He reached the last eight at Wimbledon by defeating Von Cramm, and came somewhere in the first four. Then he reached the semi-final in the United States championships where he required the number one player, Perry, to stop his progress. Before that he had defeated Shields.

The Sunderland Football Club has started the season in smashing fashion and look like having a big say with regard to the destination of the English championship. During the latter part of the last season they instituted a new system of forward play. The centre forward, instead of keeping well up in the middle of the field, wanders about drawing the opposing centre half out of position and leave plenty of room for the inside forwards to work. Sunderland has continued to follow this policy and so far it has proved very successful. Preston North End, who only came back to the first division this season after several years' absence, is also having a surprisingly good time and is among the leaders. Despite the excellent form they showed at the conclusion of last season, Chelsea are again at the lower end of the table, in company with Huddersfield, who were runners-up to Arsenal last time.

Jack Cook, the former Chelsea, Brentford, Millwall, Plymouth and England international centre forward, may not play football again this season at all. In a recent match for Walton-on-Thames, a Surrey League amateur club, against Metropolitan Police, Cook, who some time ago was granted a permit by the football association to play for Walton, injured his shoulder and as a result, dislocated his right shoulder. Cook commenced his career with the old Kingstonian amateur club. Besides his service with Chelsea, Brentford, Millwall and Plymouth, he assisted Everton and Huddersfield Town. He was capped against Ireland and Scotland.

The Barcelona Football Club has elected a woman, Ana Maria Martinez, to take a seat on their board of directors. This step is one without precedent in Spain. Senorita Martinez is not only a distinguished sportswoman, young and of attractive appearance, but she is skilful in her pen. Her appointment came as a great surprise and is attributed largely to the hope that her tact and influence may help to remove the friction frequently observed in interclub matches.

FIGHTS

BOXING

Chicago—Geno Salvatore, 135 lb., La Salle, Ill., outpointed Johnny Stanton, 135, Minneapolis (eight). Cincinnati—Mick Koshover, 137, Cincinnati, stopped Bobby Mullins, 139, Vincennes, Ind. (three). Oakland—Buddy Bar, 247, Oakland, knocked out Maxie Brown, 195, Oklahoma, (one).

Barrie, Ont., Oct. 11.—Jubilant over bringing Orillia its first national championship of any description, the Mann Cup Terriers, Canada's 1934 lacrosse champions, prepared to-day to sail into British Columbia and show the home country of New Westminster Salmonbellies a sample of eastern craft. Orillia's young team harpooned the Salmonbellies for the third straight time here yesterday evening, 13 to 6, to end the inter-sectional title series and retain for the east the Mann Cup that Hamilton Tigers won last year. The Terriers outclassed the more experienced, slower brigade from the west in every contest.

So convincing and overwhelming was the margin of victory that British Columbia is acutely anxious to see in action a team capable of drubbing the far-west "chickadees" by such scores as 21 to 8, 19 to 6 and 13 to 6. The Terriers have been offered a $4,000 guarantee for a series at Vancouver against the St. Helen's club and are likely to accept the terms to-day.

Wiser in the way of the Terriers after two disastrous seasons with the Ontario team, the Salmonbellies made their best stand yesterday evening. It was an effort that might have borne fruit had it become effective in the firing and remained effective towards the bitter end. With New Westminster holding the high-scoring Bill Wilson in check all the way, Wilkes pumped out in front of the Orillia attack, scoring five goals and assisting in another. Boettger bagged three and Ed Downey two goals, one from a free throw in the first period rally and another pair in the final drive.

Alf Davy was one of the outstanding stickhandlers on the floor, and by far New Westminster's most effective forward. He scored four of the six goals, one from a free throw in the third period. Les Davy scored one and R. Baker one.

Terriers' whole Mann Cup history when they follow the famous three straight games. Not since 1927 has the cup gone westward and in that year it was carried to the coast by Salmonbellies' most effective player, Percy Jackson. Only the great work of Percy Anthony in the Orillia nets prevented the score being much closer. Besides the brilliant work of Downey and Boettger, an assist apiece and the remainder of the Terriers' tally were divided between Tommy Scott, Ernie Curran, a goal and an assist each; Stan Partidge with one goal and Bill Curran one assist and Ken Petrick two.

It was a gala day for the Terrier crowd who dashed onto the playing arena when the final whistle blew and the Orillia kit men marched to shouts of victory from the several hundred backers who came to Barrie from Orillia to cheer their athletes to their first Dominion championship of any kind.

New Westminster Salmonbellies—Goal, Henry Baker; defence, Bill Anderson, rover, Bill Wilkes; centre, Gordie Boettger; home, Bill Curran and Ernie "Rains" Curran. Alternates: Bill Wilson, Ken Petrick and Jack Bonbrun. (2) Vernon, Tudehope, defence: Bill Mullis, centre: Stan Partidge, defence: Ambrose Ellis spare goalie.

Officials—Referee, Bruce Leighton and "Hank" Goudie, Toronto; official timekeeper, J. B. Sibbald, Calgary; penalty timekeeper, Morley Cascaless, Toronto; goal umpire, A. E. Lyon, Perth, Ont., and E. J. Dopp, Toronto.

Amateurs At Hockey School

Lester Patrick Puts Young Players Through Paces at Winnipeg

Winnipeg, Oct. 11.—Prelude to the opening of the New York Rangers' training camp here, Lester Patrick, manager-director of the National Hockey League club, yesterday opened hockey's first school of instruction.

The amateurs came tumbling into the first lessons—seventeen of them from the west and three from the east—to get tips on just how the great winter game should be played. The school is being conducted behind closed doors and is sponsored by the Rangers club. The budding stars are under no obligation and will not lose their amateur status. They are just there to learn, although they may find places in the big leagues.

From the east came Ray Gelliffe, Charlottetown; Bert Connolly, Montreal; and Lynn Patrick, Montreal, who is playing rugby with Winnipeg this year. Lynn, a son of Lester, plays centre.

The westerners are Mac and Neil Colville and Joe Brown, Edmonton; Vern Johnston, Brandon; Dunc Farmer, Mel Hill, Earl Nicholson and Bert Gardiner, Saskatoon; Murray Armstrong, Jack Church and Andy Young, Regina; Don Metz and Dick Adolph, Wilcox, Sask.; Vince Papak, Eveleth, Minn.; Walter Pratt, Alex Shilbicky and Joe Cooper, Winnipeg.

WHEN FANS' WRATH HELD UP BALL GAME AND FORCED PLAYER OUT

The parade finally moved back to the home-plate box es, and Judge Landis, indicated by arrow, went into conference with Manager Frisch, shown before him right, and Medwick, left. Back of them were arrayed the photographers and behind the cameraman Owen, No. 8, waited. After mulling over the situation, Medwick went to the dugout. Owen back to the third sack, the other players resumed their positions. Fullis going to left field, play went on, and peace descended over the battleground.

The seventh and deciding game of the world baseball series between the St. Louis Cardinals and Detroit Tigers at Detroit was featured by a riot of the fans in the left-field bleachers following a mix-up between Joe Medwick, St. Louis outfielder, and Marvin Owen, Detroit third sacker. The fans in the left-field stands clamored for vengeance, when Medwick stroled out to take up his position in the left garden for the last half of the sixth stanza. Pop bottles sang through the air, vegetables and fruit came in a shower. Medwick was signaled back to the infield. He went in, then came back to the pasture, but once more the irate fans showered him. Umpires, players, photographers, and groundkeepers rushed out and went into a huddle.

Goldsmith Star In Beavers' Victory

Scores Sixteen Points As Club Opens Senior B Basketball Campaign With 37 to 26 Win Over Tillicum; Kingham and Gillespie and Dealats Winners

Frank Shady's Beavers opened their senior B men's basketball campaign by defeating the Tillicum in the feature game of yesterday evening's card at the High School gymnasium by a 37 to 26 score. The Beavers played sweet basketball and by their victory served notice to all other division contenders that they will be serious contenders for the honors. In the other two games Kingham and Gillespie snowed under the Canadian Scottish Intermediate A, 40 to 18, and the Dealats downed Centennial All-Blacks, 30 to 10.

Led by Ollie Goldsmith, who collected sixteen points, the Beavers performed well. In the opening twenty minutes of play the boys in purple were on the long end of a 24 to 10 score, with the clubmen offering little opposition.

With the resumption of play, Bill Pasmoro and his boys started to click, and soon cut down the Beavers with five minutes left to play, they were only seven points down.

The Beavers came back to score two field baskets before the final whistle to send their margin of victory up to eleven points.

PLAYER BANISHED
Gordon Bettelwer, Tillicum guard, was chased by Referee Macedo late in the game for unnecessary roughness.

After gaining a 16 to 13 lead in the first half, Kingham and Gillespie turned on the heat and smothered the Canadian Scottish in the second half with some pretty basketball and accurate shooting. Turner, crack forward for the coal merchants, was scoring from all angles and collected a total of twenty-two points.

Outclassing their opponents by a wide margin is the second canto. Dealats continued their undefeated march to the intermediate A division lead by downing the All-Blacks. Dealats worked the ball in close under the basket with Robb, Taylor and Shepherd doing the majority of the scoring.

The All-Blacks, missing woefully weak in shooting, missing many opportunities for easy baskets. Tommy Macedo refereed all games.

The teams and individual scores follow:
Kingham-Gillespie—Anderson (8), Edge (6), McConnell (5), Turner (2), Phillips, Allan, Berry (1), Wain (2), Sugden (2), Thorburn. Total, 18.

Dealats—Robb (10), Coates (4), Taylor (11), McLean, Lansell, Campbell (2), Shepherd (8), Naysmith (4). Total, 30.

Centennial Black Hawks—Cliff Sparks, Crouch (5), Jewsbury (1), Underwood, Smith, Crowe, Meyers (4). Total, 10.

Beavers—Goldsmith (16), J. Cad-dell (3), Patterson (5), Robertson (5), Macmurchie (3), Tubman (2), Levy (4). Total, 37.

Tillicum—Baker, R. Caddell (5), Hill (8), Bradley (8), Pettibone, Wood, Bourne (7), Passmore. Total, 26.

For using license plates on a car other than the one for which they were issued, William Niblock was fined $10 and $2 costs in the Provincial Police Court yesterday afternoon. He pleaded not guilty, stating he had gone to Regina during the year and bought a new car there.

He transferred plates from his old car to the new one and when he returned was ignorant of the fact that he should record the transfer immediately. He had since registered the new car and obtained plates for it.

Hallahan May Go To Chicago Cubs

Chicago, Oct. 11.—Bill Hallahan, who lost a tough decision to Schoolboy Rowe in the world series last week, may come to Chicago Cubs from the world champion St. Louis Cardinals in a deal involving Pat Malone.

PRESS SERVICE DEBATE IN U.S.

Washington, Oct. 11.—U.S. Senator David Schall, Minnesota Republican, in a statement to-day said he had been advised radio stations had offered to subscribe $500,000 toward "establishment of a federal censored press service," a move he asserted was instituted by U.S. Senator C. O. Dill, Washington Democrat.

Schall has been warning the public for weeks that a government controlled press service is to be set up. President Roosevelt himself is among the government officials who have dubbed Mr. Schall's assertions as "ridiculous."

Peden And Audy Together Again

Illness and Accidents Pair Up Famous Riders in Montreal Bike Grind; Are Now in Fifth Position; Jimmy Walthour and Henri LePage Leading

Montreal, Oct. 11.—With Torchy Peden, Victoria, and Jules Audy of Montreal rolling along in fifth place, a team that upset the predictions by winning the Pitts-bury six-day race two weeks ago, to-day was making a powerful bid to repeat the triumph in Montreal's eleventh race, at the Forum.

When the ten surviving teams rolled into the seventy-fifth hour of the test—the red-shirted team of Jimmy Walthour, New York, and

Henri LePage, Montreal, were coasting in the van, two laps ahead.

BIG CROWD
Five thousand watched the night of lap stealing, in which the leaders rode with the team that was making the pace in each lap.

In second place were Helms Vopel, Cornwall, and Zenon St. Laurent, Montreal, tied with Charles Winter, New York, and Ernest Muller, Holland. The leading duo had covered 1,354 miles seven laps.

Illness and accidents brought Peden and Audy together as a team.

Ernest De Buhlere, Audy's Swiss partner, aggravated a leg injury in a hard fall and had to quit, while Sid Cozens, of England, Peden's mate, was forced out with stomach trouble.

Standings follow:
Walthour-LePage ... 1,424 7 236

ANTI-FRATERNITY DRIVE AT QUEEN'S

Canadian Press
Kingston, Ont., Oct. 11.—The anti-fraternity drive of Queen's University was at a standstill to-day, but there was much speculation as to the next move of the special court established by the Alma Mater Society regarding penalties for students who belong to fraternities.

Officers of the court have been empowered to summon all undergraduates to answer to the charge of being associated with an international fraternity. Under regulations the society adopted in the spring, the penalty for any student belonging to such a fraternity is "the loss of his or her rights to participation in student political, social and athletic activities for one year."

Five members of the senior football team, "How" Hamlin, Bill Cline, Frank Earle, "Red" McNicol and Colin Darce, all medical students, are said to be members of a fraternity, and therefore liable to be prohibited from further play with Queen's.

COLUMBUS DISCOVERED INDIA!

To the end of his life Christopher Columbus was convinced that he had landed on the shores of India.

Such misdirection, however valuable it proved to be 400 years ago, would be most inconvenient were it applied to-day to our modern passenger and express systems.

What's Wrong With Marriage Market? Suggests Reasons for Surplus of Bachelors

A YOUNG WOMAN wants to know why the modern man is so averse to matrimony, and why it is almost as hard to inveigle one to the altar as it is to drag him to the electric chair.

"In Mother's time," she says, "virtually every man married and old bachelors and old maids were almost as scarce as hens' teeth. Now the woods are full of 'em, and it is the men's fault. We girls would like to marry, but nobody asks us to."

"It isn't that we are less attractive than the women in the past were, because, taking us by and large, we are healthier and hence better looking than they were, and we are better educated and more fitted to make interesting life companions. Nor is it that men have soured on the feminine sex. They crave the society of girls as much as their fathers did. Our doorsteps are crowded with the boy friends who wait and sit, but who never pop the question and who date us up for everything except a wedding. And we girls would like to know why this is thus?"

Primarily the reason why men do not marry as early and as often as they used to is financial. They lack the price. They cannot afford a wife any more than they can afford a yacht. Marriage has become a luxury in which only the well-to-do or the foolhardy dare indulge. When a man is making only a bare subsistence for one, it gives him cold shivers even to think of undertaking to support two or three or more.

Youth is the mating time of life. It is when the urge toward marriage is strongest, but few boys earn enough to support a family and by the time the average man has got into a position where he is able to take unto himself a wife he has lost his desire for one. Romance has been suppressed so long it has flattened out and died. His heart has been turned into a hotel for transient guests instead of a permanent abode for some one girl. He has grown cautious and cold and selfish and the last thing he wants to do is to swap off his bachelor freedom for the doubtful blessing of wife and children.

The mechanical age has also dealt matrimony a solar-plexus blow. Formerly a wife was a necessity. A man had to have a woman to look after his comfort, to see that his food was properly cooked, that his house was kept clean and comfortable, that his soiled clothes were sent out to the laundry and the presser. It was after a man got so tired of picking out his own dinners that he felt he would scream at the sight of a menu, and when he discovered, as he started to dress in a hurry, that he didn't have a single clean shirt that he grabbed up some girl he had been dilly-dallying around with for years and rushed with her to the person.

Now a man can marry a lot of gadgets instead of a woman and by merely pushing a button can be fed and valetted better and cheaper than any wife could do it and without any back talk about being overworked and why on earth a man can never find a clean handkerchief if it happens to get to the bottom of the drawer instead of being on the top. Modern inventions are a woman's friend after marriage, but they are her hoodoo in getting a husband.

Still another thing that has put a blight upon marriage is the freedom of the sexes. In the good old days when the price of monopolizing a woman's society was a wedding ring, men paid it. Chaperoneage promoted marriage and John married Susie to get rid of Mother, so he and Susie could talk together without her listening in, and could go to parties without having to drag Mother along. Women were mysterious, with all the glamour of the unknown about them, and men married them just to unriddle the riddle that roused their sporting blood.

But now when the chaperone is as extinct as the dodo, and when women have cast aside their seven veils of illusion, and when a man can have all of a woman's company he wants and more without having to pay her bills or giving her a legal right to boss him and regulate his outings and in-comings, why should he burden himself with a wife and the answer is that only too often he doesn't. He has worked out his cross-word puzzle and his interest in it is gone.

Nor does working together, day after day, in business incline either a man's or a woman's thoughts toward marriage to each other, as a general thing. Propinquity may be the greatest matchmaker elsewhere, but not in offices. A man and woman see each other at too close range and get too well acquainted with all of the other's little peculiarities. And undoubtedly this experience of what a wife would be like keeps many a man single.

All of which goes to explain the slump in the matrimonial market. DOROTHY DIX.

Uncle Wiggily's Roasting Ears

By HOWARD E. GARDNER

Once upon a time, when Uncle Wiggily was just ready to hop away from his hollow stump homestead to go adventuring, his wife asked him:

"What are you going to do, Wiggy, my dear?"

"I think," said the rabbit gentleman, giving Mrs. Longears a kiss on her pink, whisking ear, "I shall go over in the field and build a fire, and roast some ears, and a fire will not be too hot."

"What ears will you do after you get the fire built?" asked the rabbit lady.

"I'll roast my ears," said the rabbit gentleman with a laugh.

"Oh, then I know you're going to have a good time, roasting ears," said the rabbit lady, also laughing. "I shall go over to the field and a little while after that Baby Bunty, coming home from school, asked Nurse Jane:

"Where is Uncle Wig?" The little orphan rabbit used all the baby talk she was allowed - just those two words, "Uncle Wig."

"He has gone to the field to roast his ears," said the pink lady housekeeper, who was in a hurry just then to get a piano key and unlock the jam cupboard, for the lady the rabbit children would soon be home from school.

BABY BUNTY TO THE RESCUE

"Oh, my goodness!" cried Baby Bunty, hearing what Nurse Jane said. "How dreadful! That must never be! You see the little orphan rabbit didn't quite understand what Nurse Jane said. So Bunty ran out of the bungalow and just then Custer and Custer, two of the rabbit boys, came hopping home from school.

"We must go to the field right away and help Uncle Wig!"

"What's the matter?" asked Custer.

"Nurse Jane said Uncle Wig had gone to the field to roast his ears," cried Baby Bunty.

"I guess maybe some of the Bad Chaps have caught him and are going to roast his ears over a fire. That will be dreadful!"

"Where is it?" asked Custer. "We must stop them. Come on!" he shouted and he picked up his pop gun. Bunty got her bow and arrows and Baby Bunty got her can of perfumed talcum powder to help Bunty and Custer to shoot the Bad Chaps with.

Together Baby Bunty, Custer and Custer hopped fast to the field. When nearly there they saw smoke and they smelled fire.

"Oh, they're roasting Uncle Wig's ears now!" yelled Bunty.

"We'll stop them!" cried Custer, as he got ready to shoot at an enemy.

"Quick, Bunty!" whispered Custer. "Put some talcum powder in my pop gun. It may be too late! They may have roasted their ears off!"

"That's all right!" cried Custer, "I'll use the flaver!"

"Oh, dear me!" sighed Baby Bunty, "the next moment she laughed and so did

HOROSCOPE

"The stars incline, but do not compel"

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 12, 1934

Friendly stars are active to-day. This should inspire both men and women to find joy in work as well as play. It is a time for brave beginnings in business. Women to-day may trust their stars, which are beneficent, promising for them the fulfillment of many hopes and dreams of romance.

This is an auspicious rule of the stars for shopping and for wearing new clothing of gold and poverty, they breed, also, an unusual pangency of wealth. So the affairs of every sort are well directed to-day. It is a lucky day, and there will be much gorgeous attire seen in the winter months.

Crimes are to increase in number and horror, it is prognosticated. Many robberies of peculiar daring are foreseen. Women should be exceedingly cautious, especially after dark.

In Washington, D.C., a murder that will be of national moment has been prophesied. The peak of organized crime is to be reached as the year ends and the federal government will institute radical methods of protection for the people.

Continental nations of Europe are to meet many perils in financial matters. It is indicated. Monetary matters. Friendly acts will aid many women.

Children born on this day will be of an ambitious nature that makes the most of natural gifts. Well-earned success will come to many.

George W. Cable, writer, was born on this day, 1845. Others who have celebrated it as a birthday include General Charles King, novelist, also 1844.

JUDGE BARS STATEMENT

Toronto, Oct. 11 (Canadian Press).—Judge Daniel O'Connell today had refused to admit as evidence a statement which police alleged Charles Smith, charged with shooting and being in possession of house-breaking tools, made to them following his arrest. The judge found police had questioned the man for several hours after his arrest.

CAPTAIN HURT DURING STORM

Master of Majestic Injured When Seas Pound Great Liner on Atlantic

New York, Oct. 11.—Twenty-four hours later, the liner Majestic docked yesterday after one of the roughest crossings of its service.

The second day out, waves rolled high over the forecastle deck and battered in the glass-enclosed control room atop the bridge.

The master, Capt. Edgar Trant, suffered a deep gash on the forehead and was confined to his cabin after infection set in. He was taken from the Majestic as soon as it touched the pier and rushed to a hospital. His condition was not considered serious.

EMPTY SAIL BOAT FOUND

Twelve-foot Craft With Sails Set Discovered Adrift at Albert Head

The discovery of an empty sailboat, half full of water, with no sign of its occupants, off Albert Head, this morning was being investigated by provincial police.

The twelve-foot craft was sighted by the lightkeeper at Albert Head on Monday. The sails were set and the fact that the boat was half full of water indicated it might have been swamped and tragedy overtaken the occupants.

The bottom of the boat is newly tarred, this being one of the few distinguishable features about it. This morning police endeavored to link it with the boat reported missing from Vancouver with two youths which was unreported for two days. A check-up by radio, however, revealed the missing mainland craft had returned, with its occupants safe.

So Declares Hiroshi Saito, Japanese Ambassador to the United States, as He Sails From Yokohama For San Francisco By Ms. Chichibu Maru

Tokio, Oct. 11.—Hiroshi Saito, Japanese ambassador to the United States, departed today for Washington confident, he said, that "when Japan's new naval limitations proposals are announced at London shortly other nations will be convinced of their fairness and justice."

"We can no longer endure," he said, "to be ranked inferior to other powers in naval matters. We have racked our brains to evolve proposals to eliminate the injurious barrier of nations and simultaneously assure security for all."

The ambassador said although the Japanese government has decided to abrogate the Washington Treaty, he did not believe formal notice of the decision would be served to other signatories prior to his arrival at Washington on November 1.

"The Japanese government's policy assumed that the naval parity will not fail," Saito said. "All reports that Japan is planning to propose a new Japanese-American peace machinery, on the assumption that the conference will fail, is without basis."

The ambassador sailed from Yokohama on the motorship Chichibu Maru. He plans to spend several days in California meeting Japanese consuls on the Pacific Coast to discuss the recent troubles in Arizona and other problems.

Wireless Men Back At Work

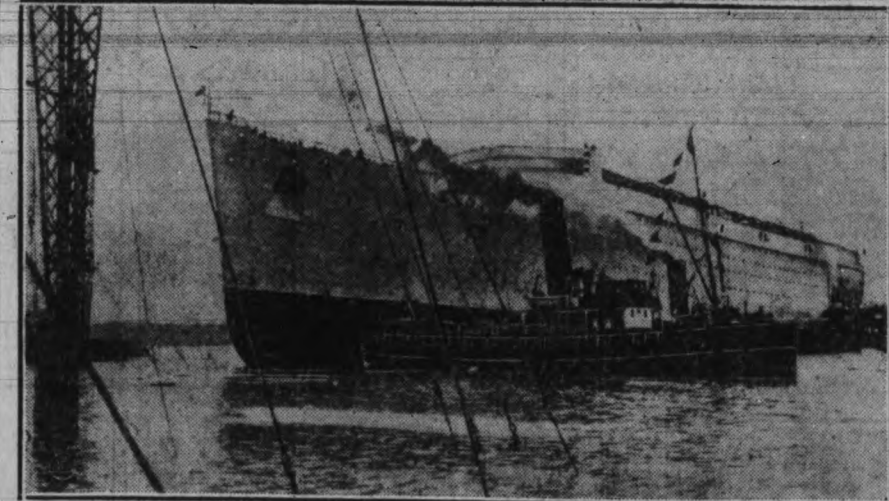

San Francisco, Oct. 11.—After a six-hour strike Tuesday, wireless operators on the Pacific coast returned to work yesterday under conditions they demanded. R. A. Pyle, secretary here of the American Radio Telegraphers' Association, announced.

The brief walkout was a sequel to a strike last week. Pyle said, when radio operators on the Ruth Alexander and Emma Alexander demanded a third operator on each ship. Sailing of the Ruth Alexander from here was delayed several hours Tuesday night by the new walkout.

Five Drown In Coast Mishaps To Shipping

Three of Crew of Tugboat Lose Lives in Stormy Seas; Man and Woman Drown When Tug Rammed in Oakland Estuary

San Francisco, Oct. 11.—Sinking of two small boats in northern California coastal waters yesterday caused five deaths. Coast guardsmen searched the beach at Trinidad, near Eureka, while a cutter patrolled the off-shore fishing grounds for signs of the bodies of three men believed drowned when their small fishing boat was wrecked by mountainous seas.

They were the crew of the fishing boat Crescent, the keel of which was washed on the beach fourteen miles north of Eureka at noon. The men were skipper Fred Swanson, whose family lives in Portland, and Fred Johnson and Yerna Clark of Eureka. A man and a woman were drowned when the tug Valiant was rammed in the dark in Oakland estuary early yesterday by the Coast Bay Lumber Company's schooner Lumberman.

Seven other persons, two of them women, were rescued out of the water by rescuers. Names of the victims were Marian E. Kent, forty-three, and Lewis Durrell, forty-five, both of Alameda. Durrell's body was still uncovered to-day.

The owners of the Valiant said the mishap was without permission and the women were aboard without authority. Capt. Robert Lytton and first mate Otto Freeman officials said.

The fishing trawler Franklin of San Francisco was reported disabled by engine trouble and the cutter C. G. Smith was dispatched to tow the craft to port. The crew was reported in no danger.

Huge combers that boomed against north coast headlands from a mid-ocean storm Tuesday and yesterday were quieting this morning. Little damage was caused by the swells, although they served yesterday to keep the small craft, including the fishing fleet, hugging their harbors.

Weather Delays Tractor Parties

Little America, Antarctica, Oct. 11.—High winds from the north, which have poured over the Ross Barrier for six days, moderated yesterday, giving hopes that the tractor parties marooned in the field might be able to resume.

DENSE FOG IN STRAITS

Ships Delayed In Reaching William Head; Ruth Alexander Going Direct to Seattle

Dense fog in the Strait of Juan de Fuca has been delaying inbound ships and several that were due yesterday afternoon and evening did not show up at the William Head quarantine station until early this morning, when the fog banks suddenly lifted.

The Italian motorship Leme passed quarantine at 12:15 o'clock this morning and proceeded to Vancouver. The freighter Riverton rounded Race Rocks a short time after and left William Head at 1 o'clock.

At 7:30 o'clock the refrigerator ship Empire Star left William Head for Vancouver and New Westminster and at 7:45 o'clock the freighter Hauraki passed up her way to Vancouver from New Zealand.

The Danish motorship India, due this morning, was delayed by fog and was expected to pass Victoria, on her way to mainland port, during the middle of the afternoon.

The Japanese freighter Ginkoh Maru, which docked at Odeon Point yesterday morning to load lumber for Australia, left this afternoon.

W. M. Allan, local agent for the Pacific Steamship Lines, was advised this morning that the St. Ruth Alexander would not call here on her present northbound trip from California ports. She was delayed in sailing from San Francisco Tuesday afternoon by the wireless operators' strike and will go direct to Seattle, arriving there to-morrow morning at 7 o'clock.

Major D. R. MacLaren, Canadian Airways Manager, Says Gulf Service Will Continue Through Winter; Tells of Northern Operations

"We will operate throughout the winter months, the service of course depending on weather conditions," said Major D. R. MacLaren, general manager of the Pacific division of the Canadian Airways, who was a visitor to Victoria this morning, having piloted an extra plane-load of passengers over from Vancouver. Two planes crossed the gulf this morning, both filled to capacity, and another plane could have been filled had it been available.

"Every precaution will be taken on this service during the winter months," Major MacLaren said. "We will not start from either Equalum or Vancouver until we know we can get through. We get weather reports from various posts along the route four times a day."

It is really remarkable the way people are demanding this service," Major MacLaren continued. "Most of our passengers are business men who come here from Vancouver and return the same day."

Weather reports are received each day from stations at Mayne Island, Steveston, Kelowna, James Island, Sidney and Esquimalt. If all stations report favorable weather the planes will continue to take off each day, he said.

The Airways manager referred to the work his company has been doing during the summer months. Flights have been operating in fisheries patrol for the government up the west coast of Vancouver Island, and as far north as Prince Rupert, where there are three planes in this service, and they operate from the middle of June until the end of November.

Stewart is the logical point for transfer of passengers and freight to the northern hinterland of British Columbia," Major MacLaren stated. "Atlin can be reached from Stewart in three hours. There are three boats each week to Stewart, and this is a faster route to interior points of the north than through Skagway."

"Our services in the north this year have opened up many contacts in the north," he said. "At the head of Unuk Lake, which can only be reached by plane, there are several prospective mines. I think a lot of that Stewart country. It holds a

No More Piles

Doctor's Prescription Does The Work
Few Pile sufferers know that the cause of Piles is internal—bad circulation of blood in the lower bowel. This is the scientific truth about Piles—the real reason why salves and suppositories so often may not give lasting relief and why curing some times removes the pile tumor but leaves its exciting cause which may create a recurrence.
Your itching, bleeding or protruding Piles will only go when you actually remove the cause. For this an internal medicine should be used. HEM-ROID, the prescription of Dr. J. S. Leonard, sold by good druggists everywhere, succeeds because it stimulates the circulation and acts to relieve congestion.
So isn't it better, when salves fail and before considering operation, to try this internal remedy when MacFarlane and Vancouver Drug Stores invite every Pile sufferer to try HEM-ROID with money-back if not joyfully satisfied with the help one bottle gives.
